◆ Antioch wants out of whistle blowing suit saying village has no authority over trains

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

The old saying "You can't stop a railroad" aptly describes the position of Antioch trustees in response to a lawsuit filed by seven residents three weeks ago seeking an end to whistle blowing locomotives.

The lawsuit, filed in Lake County Court, seeks an injunction against Wisconsin Central and Metra prohibiting the railroads from blowing their horns at Antioch's intersections. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug said the See TOOTS page A10

Martini sees traffic as major county concern

For Antioch County Board Member Judy Martini, there is a lot of work to be done.

The two-year representative said she has many goals going into the next two years of the changed county board with the electoral defeat of Chairman Bob Depke. She says she felt the need to get involved as her district's representative.

"I truly care about the people in my district," Martini said. "I felt the former representative wasn't doing his job and I could do a better job for the people."

'Getting our roads in order will be a goal of mine. We have to do something about this gridlock.'

Judy Martini

She feels the top challenge is getting a handle on the road situation.

"Getting our roads in order will be a goal of mine. We have to do something about this gridlock," Martini said.

She thinks the predominant theme of the board will be working together and finding compromises among the various factions.

Martini is not sure who the next leaders of the board and the forest preserve will be and doesn't want to say anything that would upset those negotiations.

She also would like to see the forest preserve acquire land in Antioch Township.

Martini again noted the role of county government will shift its attention toward road issues.

"We need to do something to improve our roads and eliminate gridlock that is increasing on our roads," she said.

She feels two things need to be done to create more cooperative relationships on the board. One of them is listening to concerns and See MARTINI page A10

'Tis the season for parades, carriage rides and more

Antioch officials are kicking off Christmas festivities with a traditional parade and tree lighting.

The Christmas Parade is slated for Nov. 29, 6:30 p.m., on Main Street. The parade will travel east on Lake Street, north on Main Street, west on Orchard Street and south on Toft Street to drop Santa off at his destination, the Enchanted Castle. He will stay there to meet with children.

The castle will be open on weekends from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. and on weekdays from 5:30-8 p.m. For Santa letters write to: Santa Claus, 100 Toyland Road, North Pole, or by the mailbox outside the castle.

Immediately following the parade, there will be a tree lighting ceremony with caroling, hot chocolate, and cookies sponsored by the Village of Antioch at the corner of Main and Orchard.

The Christmas Parade is Nov. 29, 6:30 p.m., on Main Street. The tree lighting will follow.

The village needs residents to help decorate the tree, and drop off an ornament with the family name at village hall. Ornaments should be weather resistant.

Carriage rides will be available that evening from 6:30-9:30 p.m. and then Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 1-4 p.m. through Dec. 22. Those who spend $25 or more in town, will be entitled to a free carriage ride.

On Saturday, Nov. 30, the First National Bank will be sponsoring the movie "Flipper." It will be shown at the Antioch Theater at 10:30 a.m. Admission price is two food packages donated to the Antioch Food Pantry.

The same day, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce & Industry is sponsoring a children's show at the P.M. & L. at 10:30 a.m. Again the same admission as the movie.

Antioch High, a long journey for exchange student

Antioch Community High School exchange student Mekiko Naka from Okinawa, Japan, shows off her piano skills. She took a gold medal in playing excellence at a Chicagoland competition.— Photo by Alec Junge.

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

She may be far from home but she certainly feels at home.

Mekiko Naka, 16, traveled from Okinawa, Japan to be an exchange student in America and attend Antioch Community High School. What she found is a culturally diverse land where people hardly knew she was an exchange student.

"In Japan, everyone could tell who the exchange student was," Naka said. "I thought everyone would know who I was," she said. "No one hardly knew I was an exchange student."

Naka, who lives near an American military base in Japan, wasn't too surprised by what she saw because she already has quite a few American friends. However, some things did shock her.

"I couldn't believe all of the open land. When I heard I was going to a suburb of Chicago I thought it would be more congested," she said.

In Japan, houses are built straight up. Her house has four floors. Most properties have no yards.

The November snow was a big hit with her. "This is the first time I saw snow in seven years," she said. She participated in a full blown snowball fight.

One of her talents is piano playing. This modest teen can play with the best pianists in the area. She captured a gold medal rating at the Sontana Santana Northwest Suburban Competition.

She also took second in a nationwide competition in Okinawa last year.

For fun, she had the opportunity to take in a Milwaukee Brewers game. While there is baseball in Japan, she noted the fan reaction is quite different in America.

"They stand up and yell. We don't do that," she joked.

The teen will be staying at different residences at three month intervals to get a better understanding of the culture. She was living with Alex and Christine Apostol of Lindenhurst and will be moving to live with an Antioch family.

As for future career plans, she says she is interested in becoming a journalist.

"I think I would like to be a journalist. I am interested in politics and environmental things," Naka said.

ACHS considers $7 million building bond without tax increase

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School board is exploring the possibility of taking out a $7 million bond to modernize the current school.

The board approved hiring an architect and to direct Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent, and Bill Ahlers, business manager, to secure funding for these improvements. The board can raise the money without having to go to referendum.

"In October the Board of Education made a decision that District 117 will be a two campus facility in the future," Hockney said. "That decision gave us the direction we needed to explore the options available to us. Both Bill Ahlers and myself are sensitive to the need for better facilities, and the need to be sure the funds the public has entrusted us with are well spent."

The board saved the money through revenue generated from life safety and working cash funds because of saving realized through several years, particularly from contracting out services.

The board hired William Blair and Company to explain the non-referendum financing options. Blair representatives will report on these financing options.

The board also hired O.W.P. & P, its architect for five years, for this project and who may study the costs of new building.

"The decision was both a short term and a long range one," said Philip Delany, board president.

"The board needed to select an architect who could undertake a complex task of bringing our current campus up to standards for the present as well as the future. The board also had to consider that in the not too distant future a second facility is needed. Therefore, we had to select who might also be designing a new facility in the future."

Officials believe remodeling of the current school will be made more difficult because of the age of sections of the school.

"It's early in the process. We know we have significant funding available to us without having to ask the voters for a tax increase. What we don't know is exactly what will be done or how much it will cost. We are asking the architect to help us with that," Hockney concluded.

Once the board makes a final decision on the architect and the financing, it will seek input from all three communities that send students to ACHS to assist in the renovation plans.

Special splint to make rescues much easier for Antioch's finest

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Antioch Rescue Squad will benefit from potential life saving devices donated by Medical Devices International (MDI).

MDI provided a vacuum splint and CPR kits to the rescue squad. The splint bends and conforms to the body of the injured person.

"It will definitely benefit us," said Brian Krull of the rescue squad. "If someone has a separated shoulder we can keep the arm up."

He added it will be extremely helpful for broken arms, legs and all other types of injuries.

Making the donation on behalf of the company is Adam Zakroczymski, an Antioch resident and member of the Lions Club.

"We do a lot for the other communities and I wanted to do something to help the community I live in," Zakroczymski said.

The vacuum splint is different because it uses air and Styrofoam beads. The air is sucked out and clings to the body providing a solid, more comfortable and secure feel.

It also has the added benefit of helping in the water.

"It is excellent for water rescue because it floats," Zakroczymski said.

In addition, the Styrofoam keeps people warm by keeping the body heat.

The company also gave the CPR kits to Antioch Police Department as well. These kits allow the person administering CPR to breath through a plastic tube so they don't touch the other person.

Brian Krull, a volunteer paramedic for the Antioch Rescue Squad, shows how a patient would lie in a new vacuum splint while Diana Horton, also a volunteer paramedic, and Fire Department Captain Don Champley help him into it. The splint was donated by Adam Zakroczymski of Medical Devices International.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

Chemical sends workers to ER

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

A Gurnee company was excavated as a precautionary measure following the spill of one-quarter of a pint of a chemical.

A worker at Domino Amjet spilled the chemical Tetraetch. The chemical was cleaned up using rags, and kitty litter with it being placed in a bucket. The bucket was then dumped in a sink, causing fumes and Gurnee Fire Dept. was called about 11 a.m. Nov. 22.

A total of 14 workers were transported to three area hospitals — four to St. Therese Medical Center; four to Victory Memorial Hospital and six to Condell Medical Center. They were released later that afternoon and the ink plant was closed for the remainder of the day. Not all the employees were evacuated when the fire department arrived, but were evacuated soon afterward.

"The area was isolated. At first, three people were injured, then six to seven to nine and then 12 and 14. The building is used for research and administration," Gurnee Fire Chief Tim McGrath said.

Eight area fire departments - Gurnee, Waukegan, Newport, Grayslake, Libertyville, Zion, Fox Lake all sent personnel.

The site, with 250 employees, was turned back over to the company two hours after the incident.

McGrath said a computer program which lists possible side affects was used as well as the materials safety data sheet provided by the company was used.

"We had anyone with a headache or allergies go to the hospital and so far we have picked everyone up after they were released," Chris Berbaum, company president, said. "We wanted to take pre-emptive measures."

The firm opened its site at Grand Tri-State Business Park in July, 1988.

Rash of phony RX's leads to four arrests

Police in Fox Lake have made several arrests for phony prescriptions lately, something that appears to happen now and again.

"It seems like every couple of years, there's a whole rash of them," explained Lt. Edward Gerretsen.

This month, Fox Lake police arrested four individuals for attempting to purchase drugs with fake prescriptions or other means, he said.

If it weren't for on-the-ball pharmacists, officials may never have known about the crimes, Gerretsen explained.

"There's good communication between the pharmacists and our department," the lieutenant stated.

Thanksgiving becomes endangered species

It's the Friday after Thanksgiving and as tradition would have it, almost every fool in America is headed for the mall, for now the Official Christmas Shopping Season has arrived.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN PRINGLE

It seems Thanksgiving is bordering on becoming the first extinct holiday here in America. Once looked upon as a celebration of that first Pilgrim-Indian gathering, over the years it has lost some of that original translation and now simply symbolizes the beginning of a once reverent season gone array.

This is the day everyone will be gathering their shopping list, checking the expiration dates and credit limits on their credit cards, donning the almighty fanny-pack, sneakers and jogging suit, stretching those under used leg muscles, practicing that power walk, an assuring the car is gassed up and the trunk is empty. Just one thing though before you rush out to begin your day of over-spending.

Take a few minutes to sit and remember what this holiday is really suppose to be representing. Reflect on the goodness that has been bestowed on yourself over the past year. Take a moment to ponder your blessings and be thankful for whatever small iota of quality your life may sustain. It doesn't have to be a great thing. Perhaps it is as insignificant as no lumps in the Thanksgiving Dinner mashed potatoes or as significant as winning the lottery. Whatever good fortunate has come your way, meditate on it, reflect on it, cherish it and then ever so gently put it aside to be taken out and nourished at a future time.

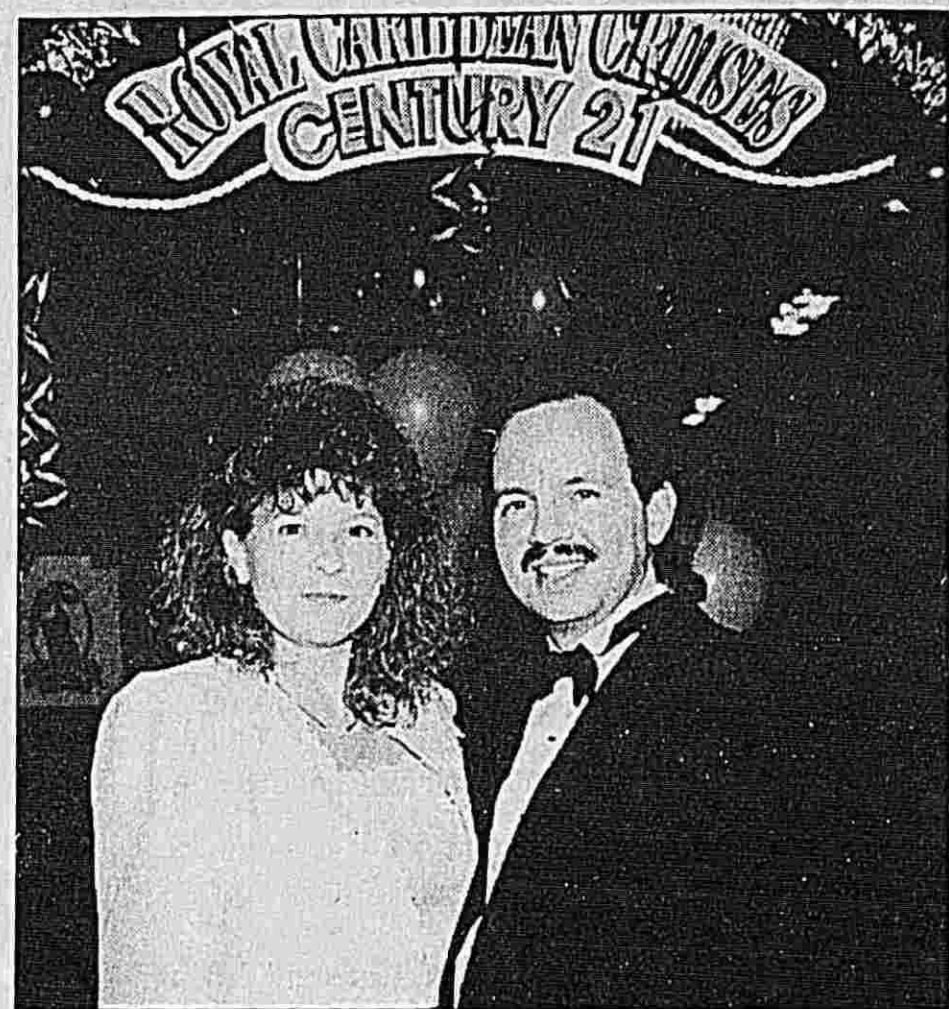

Okay now is everyone done basking in their own self-worth?

Is everyone enjoying that "good for me" warm fuzzy feeling from the top of your head down to the tip of your big toe? But wait, you can't really expect to hit the malls in this kind of "I feel good" mood. How will you accomplish anything if you find yourself being kind to your fellow man. In this frame of mind, how do you expect to fight for that finally vacated parking spot or that last correct size sweater for Aunt Edna? We have all been out there, we know what this shopping day is like. We know from experience that it is every man, woman, and child for themselves. You can't go out there in a cheery mood. You will get chewed up and spit out like yesterdays giblets.

So take a few minutes now and head back to reality. Wallow in a little self-pity. Roll around in a bit of self-worthlessness. Strap on that mighty incompetence. Taste a little of that inadequacy. Ah, now that feel's better, that feels like the old self. Now consider yourself ready to go out there confront the mall and do some power shopping. Tis the season.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

PLAQUE AND TARTAR CONTROL

Patients often confuse plaque and tartar and how they are related to each other. Plaque is a sticky, colorless deposit of bacteria that is constantly forming on teeth. Saliva, food and fluids combine to produce these deposits that collect on teeth and where teeth and gums meet. Plaque begins forming on teeth 4 to 12 hours after brushing which is why it is so important to brush at least twice a day and floss daily. Plaque which is not removed by regular brushing and flossing, can harden into unsightly tartar (also called calculus). This crusty deposit creates a cohesive bond that can only be removed by a dentist. Tartar formation may also make it more difficult for you to remove new plaque and bacteria. The prevention of tartar buildup above the gumline has not been shown to have a therapeutic effect on gum disease. You can help reduce the formation of calculus by:

- Brushing with an ADA-accepted tartar-control toothpaste
- Having your teeth cleaned professionally every six months, or more frequently as recommended by your dentist or hygienist.

Individuals vary greatly in their susceptibility to plaque and tartar. For many of us, these deposits build up faster as we age. Fighting tartar is a life-long component of oral care.

Tax-Aide program needs volunteers to help seniors

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) is on the lookout for a few good volunteers, particularly men and women who like working with numbers and who enjoy helping senior citizens to prepare their income tax returns.

AARP is now accepting applications from adult volunteers of all ages who want to help senior citizens with their income taxes. AARP membership is not required. The AARP Tax-Aide program is co-sponsored by the IRS.

Starting in January, there will be an eight-day training course for the Tax-Aide counselors, under IRS supervision. Volunteers are reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses such as mileage, parking, meals and postage stamps.

In return for the training and after being certified by the IRS, volunteers spend four hours (or more) each week from Feb. 1 through April 15 assisting senior taxpayers at an assigned convenient site such as a local senior center, bank, or library.

There is no charge or gratuity for doing tax returns. Last year, more than 1.5 million persons were aided with their tax returns by more than 31,144 Tax-Aide volunteers in the U.S.

Persons living in the Lake County community who would like to help seniors prepare their income tax returns can do so by calling Charles Flesher at 249-2249 or writing: Charles Flesher, 1020 Highland Ave., Waukegan, IL 60085.

Forest Preserves takes travelers to view trails by moonlight

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

Wandering through the woods in the dark is a wonderful experience. Hearing the hoot of the owls and gazing at the stars from the prairie is something many don't often sense. Now wandering through the forest preserve on a moonlit path is no longer forbidden.

Now getting a fresh perspective on an area normally only accessible during the day is something residents of Lake County are being offered once in a full moon. The Lake County Forest Preserve offers full moon nature programs at varying locations in the dark hours of the evening, to allow people an off-beat experience of the forest preserve.

"It's a new way of discovering the woods, said Jean Weeg, outdoor adventure coordinator for the Lake County Forest Preserve.

Weeg came up with the idea to hold the evening programs a year ago and said they have become very popular.

Van Patten Woods was the sight for a moonlight horseback ride last weekend.

In the summer an evening program is the Full Moon Canoe Rides offered at Van Patten Woods. Bike rides are an additional way to cover the forest preserves nocturnally in the warmer months.

Outreach and Stewardship manager Lynn Heppler said the programs are successful with the volunteer nature guides help. These guides go through an extensive training program and assist the small staff in presenting the full moon activities.

Heppler said it is most interesting because participants are able to view many animals that are active only at night or those so active in the day that they are hard to spot. She explained it is an awakening of the senses to traverse the woods in the night.

"Vision is not quite as strong and you become more alerted to the senses. You feel the pooling of cool air . . . other things neat about the night are the night active birds. Often owls are heard and occasionally you see them . . .

Sometimes you come across a Great Blue Heron roosting at night. A number of different aspects are very appealing to the public," said Heppler of evening in the preserves.

Some of the other full moon programs coming up include a Moonlight Walk in Grant Woods located in Lake Villa; a Winter Solstice Walk Dec. 21 at Grant

Woods; Dec. 31 there will be an evening celebration of the new year for all ages from 11-12:30 p.m. at Ryerson Woods including star gazing, a nature walk and a bonfire; Jan. 24 there will be a Winter Night Hike for children ages 7-12 at Ryerson Woods; On Jan. 18 there is an evening program on coyotes at Lakewood in Wauconda at which participants will attempt to converse with the coyotes and on Jan. 25 at Cuba Marsh and Feb. 15 at the forest preserve's general offices in Libertyville Owl Prowls will be offered. For more information call Weeg at 948-7750.

Volunteers breathe new life into ACHS plans

ALEC IUNGE
Staff Reporter

With a little help from the community, Antioch High School students are getting a more well rounded education.

Often, volunteers are filling the gaps where staff members aren't available and making the school run much more efficiently. In its second year, the volunteer program has attracted many who want to do their part to make the community high school better.

"This is the second year of our program and the response from the community has been wonderful," said Pam Podstawa, volunteer coordinator.

"We have been able to find volunteers for all requests that have come so far and both staff and volunteers seem to be really enjoying the program."

Volunteers perform a number of roles which are vital to the school's success.

Among them are addressing mailings, being assistant coaches for athletic teams, working in the learning resource center, food class helpers and at-home volunteers.

"I'm a retired teacher and I enjoy working with the kids," said Jack Miller, volunteer chairman.

Some of the volunteers are retirees who enjoy the camaraderie of the school environment and working with teens.

"They find out they are really a great bunch of kids," Miller said.

The program started two years ago. There are now 68 volunteers who help out the school when they can.

Miller added volunteers have been terrific about performing almost any task that is asked of them.

"When I call and ask for help usually the only reason they can't is their kid is sick or they have a doctor appointment. The cooperation is excellent. People have gone out of their way to help us," Miller said.

To learn more about the program, call Podstawa at 395-1421 extension 231.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Woman's Club thanks fire dept.

Editor:

On behalf of the Antioch Junior Woman's Club, we would like to thank the Antioch Fire Department for opening up their station so we could have our first baby-sitting clinic which was held in October. It is called "Sitter Survival." The clinic was an hour and a half one night a week for the four Mondays in October. The first week was taught by Sgt. Jim Forester of the Antioch Police Department. He spoke about safety in the home. The second week was taught by Diana Horton, a paramedic with the Antioch Rescue Squad. She taught basic first aid. The third week was taught by Bob Johnson, a fireman with the Antioch Fire Department. He taught fire safety in the home using slides and hand out materials. Mr. Johnson was a great asset in helping our club put this class together. The instructors were proud to be a part of this community service.

We thank them very much for their time and very useful information. The last week was taught by the Antioch Junior Woman's Club teaching such things as; diaper changing (using real babies), nutritious snacks, and games to play with the children. We also had a "graduation ceremony" the last night where the kids received a diploma and got to keep the folder that was filled with a lot of useful information. We had everything donated to our club so we could offer this clinic to our community. Our list of donations is very long. We did not charge for this clinic and feel being able to offer this class is payment enough. Our club would like to thank everyone who unselfishly donated their time or materials to our club so we could make this a huge success. We hope to offer this class again in the Spring. Antioch is definitely a community that works together.

Chop down your own Christmas tree at this rural farm

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

It's almost here, Christmas that is and it's time to start thinking of purchasing a Christmas tree. An annual family tradition could be established by packing a thermos of hot chocolate, bundling everyone up in their warmest winter garb, stowing a saw in the trunk of the car and driving off to Hayden Tree Farm in search of the perfect Christmas tree the old fashioned way.

The tree farm located on Hunt Club Road in Antioch has become a traditional place for many families to find the perfect tree for their holiday celebration.

Pat Hayden and her husband opened the farm for business in 1955 and began planting Christmas trees to provide a continuous supply year after year. She now runs the farm with the help of her daughter.

It takes approximately nine years for a pine tree to reach the perfect Christmas tree size.

Pat explained when she and her husband decided they wanted to live in the country they purchased the farm and there was nothing but daisies planted in the area.

"Now it looks like a forest preserve with lakes," she exclaimed.

In the beginning there were only 50 trees; now there are 15 acres with 10,000 to 15,000 trees. It takes approximately nine years for a pine tree to reach the perfect Christmas tree size, she noted.

"Generally people just enjoy walking around. We do allow dogs if they're mild and not aggressive and on leashes," Pat said.

The neatest thing about her business in addition to only being open for three weeks is "everyone is happy. We hardly get anyone who's grumpy," she exclaimed.

"People sometimes have tailgate parties. People take their time. I've had some take three hours."

Starting Nov. 29 until Christmas the farm is open for people to come in and cut their own trees. Hayden offers free cocoa, coffee and tea to her customers and also sells wreaths, garland, ornaments, potted trees that will live on after the holiday and burlap bagged trees to be planted outside.

The farm encompasses a total of 40 acres on which customers may roam in search of the perfect tree.

Customers are encouraged to bring their own saws on the weekend because its so busy those provided are usually in use. Pat said the trees are very easy to cut and proclaimed she even cut one with a butter knife.

There is a wonderful variety to fit every preference. Trees available include Scotch Pine, White Pine, Douglas Fir, White Fir and long needle Red Pine.

Hayden Tree Farm is located at 42880 N. Hunt Club Road a little more than a mile north of Route 173. For more information call the farm at 395-4127.

Heritage is stressed in proposed Jewish groups

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

Like many women in modern times, Toby Aronsohn wanted to keep the traditions and holiday celebrations of her childhood alive for her children and also was looking to bond with some other women who shared her cultural heritage.

Toby and her husband, Bob, moved to Gurnee in 1990. As she puts it, they were "pioneers," arriving before the big building boom hit town. In another sense, Toby was a pioneer in an effort to bring Jewish women of the area together.

Toby and Bob were both raised in Jewish homes and with two young daughters, Tricia and Jenny, she wanted to impart the significance of Jewish customs to her family. Because there isn't a large predominance of Jewish families in the area, she sought out Hadassah.

Hadassah, an organization that promotes Jewish knowledge and traditions, is the largest Zionist women's organization in the world with over 300,000 members. It's also the largest women's membership organization in the United States.

Nancy Kessler, field consultant for Hadassah North Shore, is involved with the crusade to get a group organized in this area. There was an attempt to start a group a few years ago but it fizzled out.

Toby had expressed interest at that time in the local group and ended up searching out another Hadassah group to fit her needs. She linked up with the Lilah Hadassah which has a diverse representation of areas throughout the northern Chicago area in its membership. She said she made a commitment to drive to the meetings because it offered what she was looking for.

Nearby Hadassah groups are located in Buffalo Grove, Vernon Hills and Deerfield. Kessler said the group is primarily a fund-raising organization. They support a vast medical network and contribute large sums of money to support two hospitals in Israel, one which recieved an entire new children's wing last year. Each chapter has its own pet projects to raise funds.

Toby said the group has helped her in many ways.

"I find from a personal perspective I like getting together with other Jewish women and making a connection to Israel," said Toby.

What's attractive to Toby and many members is the group focuses on the traditions and knowledge and allows members to have their own religion and values.

Toby said she wants women to know this isn't their mother's organization.

"We're not women in our 60s and 70s sitting around drinking tea."

For more information on the programs call Kessler at 948-7827.

Village Attorney Ken Clark will file a motion to dismiss the village, which was also named in the suit, from the case.

"We don't have the authority to regulate railroads," Shineflug said.

Shineflug said the regulation must come from the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC). The village has no authority of speed, times, or loads of these trains.

The lawsuit alleges both railroads are violating the village's anti-nuisance ordinance because of the horn's decibel readings.

The board reviewed the horn blowing issue two years ago only to conclude they had no legal ground to stand in if they created an anti-whistle-blowing ordinance.

One of the key claims of the plaintiffs is that ICC excused the railroad from having to sound their horns through Antioch intersections. Village officials and the plaintiffs have a wide disparity with the interpretation of what "excused" means.

The plaintiffs believe excused is the same as requiring the whistles to stop, neflug said.

Railroads are required by law to blow their horns at crossings unless they have been deemed safe by federal officials.

ACHS test scores slightly down

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School state test scores were down slightly from the previous year.

The math, science and social science scores were about the same as the previous year. However, the reading and writing scores dropped.

"It is a concern and we will be monitoring it," said Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent of the reading scores.

The 10th grade reading score dropped two statistical bands from 261 last year to 223 this year.

Hockney added part of the problem might have been the test itself.

"Scores from throughout the state dropped significantly. It might have something to do with the test," Hockney said.

He added the test should accurately reflect the goals the state has presented to the schools and what is supposed to be on the test.

The other drop was in writing where ACHS students dropped from 27.5 to 25.8. They dropped one statistical band, or about a level below than the previous year.

While both scores were lower, they still matched the state average for both areas.

The statistical band is a range where scores are statistically the same even though they might be a few points higher or lower.

The science scores were virtually the same. This year's score of 259 was only six points lower than last year's number which is essentially the same.

Both the math and social science numbers were five points lower but were within the same range of scores.

On the positive side, the graduation rate climbed from 81 percent to 91 percent.

CARING FOR OLDER FEET

By the time a person reaches retirement age, the feet have put on countless miles, borne a cumulative weight of several million tons, and suffered assorted bumps, stubbings and other injuries. Good foot-care habits are essential for keeping the feet in good working order.

Walking is the best exercise for the feet. Choose shoes with firm soles and soft uppers. Bathe feet daily in lukewarm water, using a mild soap. Never cut corns or calluses yourself.

Inspect the feet daily for discoloration, swelling, numbness, sores, brittle nails and skin cracks. Don't delay in seeing the podiatrist if these or other foot problems develop.

another involves individual meetings with the board chairman.

"The chairman should meet with all the representatives to see what is important to their districts and have a meeting of the minds," she said.

When asked if the county will consider a moratorium on growth she said that would be too extreme because some areas might need to grow.

On specific goals for her district, she wants to concentrate on county police response time and intersection improvements.

"I would like to see the response time cut down on 911 calls. I would like to see some intersection work and traffic signals at Rte. 59, Rte 83 and at Beach Grove Road, she said.

ACHS grads assist college spikers

Two Antioch High School graduates contributed to the success of college teams.

Senior Jeri Soulak of Antioch completed her soccer career at Illinois College, a Division III school in Jacksonville.

Soulak

Head coach Mike Worrell said she started all of her team's 14 matches at forward and supplied valuable leadership on a team dominated by freshmen and sophomores.

"Jeri gave us a solid effort all season long and her dedication to the game won the respect and admiration of her teammates," Worrell said.

The team struggled to a 1-13 season.

Soulak is the daughter of Mrs. Penny Soulak of Round Lake Beach. She is a major in history and political science.

At Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington, Kim Wirsing contributed to an 27-11 volleyball season. Wirsing had a pair of kills.

Becker's perimeter shots draw attention

College of Lake County's men's basketball team could not keep up with the quicker squad from South Suburban in a non-conference loss.

The Lancers lost 101-83. Adam Becker led the team with 15 points.

Becker, from Antioch, after six games has already developed a reputation for his perimeter shooting.

"Every time people see him play if they yell 'shooter, shooter'. They are playing tougher defense against him," CLC coach Terry Ryan said.

CLC lost two games at a Kankakee tournament to teams the likes of which the Lancers will not face the rest of the way.

Kankakee clobbered the Lancers 98-69. Lakeland College put on a clinic at CLC's expense with a 133-83 win.

CLC trailed just 38-36 at halftime before Kankakee put on second-half show.

"They were pressing us and we were able to break the press with Eric Campbell and Killan Williams," Ryan said.

Becker scored 20 to lead the Lancers.

The defeats drop CLC to 2-4 overall.

Lakeland was ahead by 30 points by halftime.

"They were the most explosive offensive team we have seen all season. If not getting the fastbreak, they had the presence of mind to pull up for the good shot," Ryan said.

Becker and Jon Michleau were the leading scorers, with 14 points for CLC.

"Jon is really improving a lot. He had a good tournament," Ryan said.

The Lancers compete in the Thanksgiving tournament at Harper College in Palatine Nov. 29-30.

CLC faces Milwaukee Tech at 5:30 p.m. Nov. 29 then the winner of the McHenry-Harper game on Saturday.

"That is a very winnable tournament for us," Ryan said.

In other CLC basketball action, the women's team lost to Harper 73-56 for their fourth straight loss.

Mary Ipsen had 14 for the Lancers in the losing effort. The Lancers stayed close in the first half, trailing just 30-29 at halftime.

The Lady Lancers are also at Harper this weekend.

ACHS girls show strengths, weaknesses on same day

The difference may have only been a few hours, but judging by the mood of coach Dave Woods and the Antioch girls basketball team, it might as well have been night and day.

It was an opportunistic ACHS bunch which took the floor against Crystal Lake South in the Dundee-Crown Thanksgiving tournament. They were coming off a 42-35 win over Rockford Harlem.

With both teams having little rest and shooting poorly, the difference between the Sequoits and the Gators came down to hustle, defense and loose balls. Antioch lost on all three counts in a 32-25 defeat.

"We got out hustled, out rebounded any adjective you want. We have to learn how to shoot under pressure. I thought we were the better team and if we play like this, we will not win another game," Woods said.

Nicole Langley had 10 points against the Gators. She made her free throws down the stretch against Harlem, 10-of-12 of her 16 points.

Aja Brown had 21 points the first game, but was held to 7 the second clash Saturday in Carpentersville.

"She got a lot of put-backs and controlled the defensive boards for us," Woods said before the South game.

Antioch trailed 8-6 after one, 18-13 at halftime. Antioch pulled to within 14-11 with 4:40 left before halftime on a Lisa Ipsen basket, but that was as close as the Sequoits would get.

The Gators extended the margin to 10 points early in the fourth period.

Antioch had chances to trim the lead, but the closest the Sequoits could get was 7. The last time that happened was on a basket by Angela Bailey with 2:05 left.

Langley had a good first half, with 8 of her team's 13 points.

Cary-Grove was the fourth and final game for Antioch in the tourney Nov. 27. The tourney goes by the quarters-won format to determine its champion and also includes freshmen and sophomore levels.

Antioch's Kelly Stryck and Aja Brown move the ball down court against Grant.

Lartey, Sehner gain Lancer kudos

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Kofi Lartey was glad to see the level of competition when he reported to the first week of practice last year at the College of Lake County.

Now that his junior college career has come to an end, the forward believes that experience will help him at a four-year school next year.

"The thing that I will miss will be the team and all my years of playing. The level of players are better and they know the game a lot more," Lartey said. "In my last year, I just got better and smarter. I think the season was satisfactory. We weren't happy with the way the season ended."

Lartey had 12 goals this year in a 10-win CLC season. The former Blue Devil was named offensive player of the year and all Skyway Conference. He liked playing for coach Tom Holevas, who was named Skyway Conference coach of the year and also Region IV coach of the year.

The Lancers were 10-8-2, 7-3 in the league for second place. They suffered an early exit in the post-season to Prairie State.

"He is a like a players' coach - you can relate to him," Lartey said.

He was a captain. He was nominated all-region. Also bidding farewell to the junior college ranks was Andrew Kennett, another ex-Blue Devil and all conference second team.

"Andy will be hard to replace. He won any ball in the air," Holevas said of Kennett, named all conference and all region.

Players from all sports this fall received accolades at an athletic department sponsored dinner.

Calum Cruickshank of Antioch is a freshman who quickly won the goalkeeper position and was named all-conference. "We had a very strong defensive team, midfield and on the back. They guy who gets the most noticed of a strong defensive team is your goalie. If you are not taking shots at him, then the guys in front of him are really doing something super," Holevas said.

Freshmen include:

Matt Tarr from Grant, Mark Hopkins of Libertyville, Scott Lanners from Grant, Edgar Estrada, Pete Braidon from Carmel, Steve Rezmer from Grayslake, striker Brian Weeks of Antioch. "Weeks is aggressive, fast and has a nose for the goal," Holevas said. "He scored a goal from just outside the 18 against Harper."

Ray Klug was the elder statesman of the team, a 24-year old medical student.

Sophs include:

Mike Garbutt, an outside midfielder from Carmel who was named second team all conference. "We moved Mike from striker. He played after the switch like he never played before. He was just flying. He decided this was my second year and he really wanted to win."

Tim Szczepaniak, from Lake Zurich who set the tone for many players and was named second team all conference. "He is a fabulous player and his game has matured over the course of the year. At a DuPage game, he was marking an all-American, a big Polish boy. Tim picked up the team that game," Holevas said. He is a second team all conference player.

Kevin Sehner, from Libertyville. "He played sweeper and quarterbacked the defense. He is another quiet leader," he said. A captain, he was named defensive player of the year.

Schmidt says teamwork makes better tomorrow for county

After graduating from Southern Illinois University in 1974, La Grange native Suzi Schmidt was looking for a job as an art teacher and wanted to settle in an area with lots of open space and a more rural atmosphere.

"I picked Lake County. I came here and thought, 'This is for me,'" recalls Schmidt, who will start her third term on the county board on Dec. 2.

Schmidt has been a popular politician among District 3 voters, far surpassing recent challengers when the votes were tallied. During her tenure on the county board, she has devoted much of her energy to environmental, quality of life concerns. In her next term, she plans to continue along that path which has won her many friends among District 3 voters.

"I think the public in Lake County is very concerned about quality of life, about how long they sit in traffic," said Schmidt. "They're very educated on these issues. People know I'm going to keep fighting because if you don't have a healthy environment, you don't have a healthy county."

Schmidt believes the answer to controlling growth lies in the municipalities, because most of the burgeoning development is happening within municipal boundaries. However, that doesn't mean the county should take an indifferent stance.

"What we need to do is to reach out and help the municipalities," said Schmidt.

"Luckily, I've been able to work with Frank (Loffredo) and Paul (Baumunk) on density and preserving forest preserves. You can't stop developers, but you can find ways to work with them for the public good . . . There are ways to lower density," said Schmidt.

During her campaign, Schmidt often noted that she helped preserve more than 1,200 acres of forest preserve land within District 3.

"Development is what drives almost everything in Lake County. It's not going to stop and you don't want it to. But you want people to be able to exist with it," Schmidt said.

Schmidt stressed over-development is the impetus for higher taxes, because along with the development comes a need for more services, bigger schools and libraries, improved roads, and water and sewer systems.

In the next term, Schmidt also aims to see more cooperation between the county and the various levels of government, especially in the area of road improvements. She said passing the buck has to stop and government entities need to work together to serve the public better.

Schmidt foresees the next term as a time when the various county board members will also work better together.

Schmidt currently serves as chairman of the Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee and as a member of various other forest preserve committees. She is looking forward to seeing through forest preserve projects including building of the Thunderhawk Golf Course in Beach Park, the high-intensity Independence Grove Forest Preserve in Libertyville and the West Loop trail which hooks Round Lake to Wauconda. A n area of concern for Schmidt is sheriff's patrols. She'd like to see residents of the unincorporated areas, especially in the northwestern part of the county, have quicker and better access to police protection.

Depke salutes wife in final comments as chairman

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor in Chief

Even the staunchest of foes of Lake County Board Chairman Robert Depke agree on one thing—he is a man who has worked hard to accomplish what he believes in.

The difference lies in whether or not their philosophies agree.

Perhaps the most lasting tribute to Depke's nearly 40 years of involvement on the Lake County political scene will be the naming of the newly dedicated juvenile justice center in his honor. It is a vote that is likely to meet with unanimous approval from the new county board to be seated Dec. 2.

During a special call meeting Nov. 25, Depke presided as chairman for the last time.

It was a meeting in which Depke freely showed his emotions and freely spoke his mind.

"This has been a great job working with all of you," Depke told the board. "Now, it's on to bigger and better things."

Depke paid tribute to the many things accomplished under his tenure including:

- Completion of the parking garage;

'George Anne is the one that has kept me going, I've enjoyed every minute of it. I've always volunteered and that is what I will continue to do.'

Robert Depke

Depke

- Completion of the juvenile justice center;
- Leading the fight to keep Great Lakes Naval Training Center open;

- Getting Forest Preserve land at Fort Sheridan;
- The agreement with W.W. Grainger to build corporate headquarters near Mettawa and the donation of nearly 300 acres to the Lake County Forest Preserve;
- The adoption of a new logo;
- Rehabilitation of the county building and jail facility;
- Ground breaking for the additional sheriff's facilities in Libertyville;
- The new animal control center;
- Holding more liquor hearings in the last six years than in other previous time period and fining more establishments for under-age drinking.

Depke handed out plaques to three other board members that have completed their terms—Mark Beaubien is a state representative for Dist. 52; Richard Raftis and Ed Fojtik.

To Raftis and Fojtik Depke said: "When you stick with the boss, things happen... you are a casualty of Bob Depke for that I am sorry."

New juvenile center may bear Depke name

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Regional Editor

Although the Robert Depke era in county board government officially concluded this week, his name may live on ad infinitum.

'It was totally by surprise. This is amazing. You usually name places after people after you're dead. I hope this doesn't mean anything.'

Robert Depke

During the grand opening of the new Lake County Juvenile Detention and Courts Facility near Lincolnshire, Chief Judge Stephen Walter announced that the Lake County circuit judges recommended to the County Board that the facility be named in honor of Depke, who was instrumental in making the facility a reality.

The announcement took many by surprise, especially Depke, who was emotional and at a loss for words.

Walter said it was Depke's vision, resources and drive that brought the project to fruition.

"Without his efforts, it would have never happened," Walter said.

"It was totally by surprise. This is amazing," Depke said while holding back his tears.

Despite the emotional moment, Depke still managed to be humorous.

"You usually name places after people after you're dead. I hope this doesn't mean anything," he quipped.

Members speculate on who will lead county board

Staff Report

Who will be the next county board chairman? The answer lies with whoever the five Democratic members of the board will support.

When the new board is seated Dec. 2, they will align among the "party Republicans," "mainstream Republicans" and Democrats.

Interviews with the majority of Lake County Board members brings forth four names considered to be leaders, but where the votes align Monday is still up in the air.

The mainstream Republican says they will unite behind one of three candidates as the leader: Larry Leafblad of Highland Lake; Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa or Carol Calabresa of Libertyville.

The old guard or party Republicans are likely to nominate Bob Grever of Lake Zurich for the top job.

Democrats are not saying much about where their allegiance will lie, but count on them to seek a leadership position for Robert Buhai of Highland Park and Debra Halas, the current vice-chairman.

"I will support someone who I feel can make a difference on the board and that can be a leader for the whole county," said Martha Marks of Riverwoods.

Finding a leader who can unite the board seems to be goal of each of the county board members.

"I'm looking for a person I can trust and feel comfortable going to their office and stating, 'I have this situation in Warren Township,'" said Al Westerman of Gurnee.

Larry Leafblad is projecting Carol Calabresa of Libertyville may be the board's choice to head the forest preserve as president, a job currently held by Jim LaBelle, who many members feel has done an exceptional job in the position.

John Schulien of Libertyville said several members have the potential for leadership including: Marks, Grever, Buhai and Diana O'Kelly of Mundelein.

"Each of the board members who wants the job could do a good job at it," said Schulien.

"I support a chair who is sensitive to the needs of western Lake County and who will address those concerns in his committee appointments," said Bonnie Thomson Carter of Ingleside. "I believe the new chairman will need to recognize the needs of all 23 districts," added Carter.

Speculating on the new leadership and possible chairperson contenders, Sandy Cole of Grayslake said it may be a woman, noting the largest contingent of women sitting on the board ever.

"There will be a lot more cooperation amongst everyone," she believes. Less divisiveness will also be a plus in her mind.

Names she mentioned include Grever, Newton, Neal, Schmidt, Calabresa and Leafblad as possible leaders.

"You're going to see a lot more Grever involvement ... You're going to see 23 board members who have a say on the board," said Suzi Schmidt.

Grever does not claim to be a prognosticator when it comes to talk of who the new leaders of the County Board and Forest Preserve Board area, but has an idea of who he would like to see as the county board's new chairman — himself.

"If there is anything that is unpredictable, it is this process," he said.

Saying he has been "working very hard ... to obtain that situation," Grever said it will all pan out on Dec. 2, when the newly elected board members are seated.

As far as the leaders go, "who ever gets the Calabresa (chairmanship) will put his other supporters in the key positions," Grever said.

Grever sees the board needing to cooperate in order to benefit the county residents.

"I know there are several people that are looking to be the County Board chairman," Stevenson Mountsier of Cuba Township said. He did say he thinks Jim LaBelle of Zion was doing a very good job as chairman of the forest preserve board.

Diana O'Kelly of Mundelein has no predictions on who will lead the board when members reconvene, but did say it would be a much more "inclusive board" no matter who was in charge. The women members would be much more involved.

"There was a lot of good done under (Depke's) reign,"

Calabresa

Grever

Leafblad

she said. "But there are agendas other than the chairman."

"The new leadership will rise to the occasion," said David Stolman of Buffalo Grove, who supports Bob Grever of Lake Zurich for the county board chairmanship vacancy. "We have to respect each other, and not make things personal."

Carol Calabresa of Libertyville offered no guesses on who would lead either board, other than to express the hope that women members would be given a more active role. "It's long overdue," she said. "I don't see a strong leader emerging."

The outgoing members received framed nature photos from the forest preserve, plaques from the county board, flags bearing the new county logo from the county staff and a certificate of appreciation from the Illinois General Assembly. Depke received a proclamation from Gov. Jim Edgar for his service.

Depke also paid tribute to the staff of Lake County in particular administrator Ike Magalis.

"Ike you are the best ... the best in the state and probably the best in the nation," he said with emotion. "One thing I will tell this board is that Ike will save you time and time again."

Depke also told the board members that getting things accomplished means being in the political mix.

"You'd better be in the mix to get things done," he said. Depke issued a challenge to the board as well.

"You should save the Genesee Theatre," Depke told the board. "It is a part of Lake County and it should remain."

Depke's final tribute was to his wife, George Anne.

"George Anne is the one that has kept me going. I've enjoyed every minute of it. I've always volunteered and that is what I will continue to do."

The County Board will ultimately vote on the name of the new complex, but the judges recommended that the entire facility be named after Depke and the detention portion of the facility still be named the Hulse Juvenile Center in honor of Judge Minard Hulse, the founder of the juvenile justice system in Lake County.

For years, judges have been crying out to expand the former Hulse Center in Waukegan. The juvenile crime rate in Lake County had quickly overmatched the capacity of the 18-bed facility in Waukegan.

After voters rejected a referendum to fund the expansion of the Hulse Center, the County Board sought other alternatives.

Last year, County Board member David Stolman of Buffalo Grove learned that the Lutheran General health care facility near Lincolnshire was up for sale along with its 16 acres of property nestled along the Des Plaines River. Stolman brought the site to Depke's attention who started the wheels spinning to acquire the facility and property.

The county purchased the property for $3.1 million. It spent another $3.7 million to renovate and enlarge the facility to house a 48-bed detention center, court facility and other services such as the Women's Residential Services.

"This was a major homerun," Stolman said. "We were able to buy the property and make the additions without a tax increase. That's a major miracle, and this helped our juvenile justice problem."

A kitchen and dining room are included as well as a gymnasium. Five classrooms are in place to maximize the educational experience for juvenile inmates.

Stolman said the location and services offered are aimed to give juvenile criminals a different atmosphere than what they are used to in Waukegan.

"This will give the kids some hope, a breathe of fresh air and give them some higher aspirations to break the cycle of crime," said Stolman, who also envisions a work release program of sorts with the nearby business parks and retail centers in Vernon Hills.

In addition to the juvenile justice center, there will be two courtrooms and administrative offices for probation, the public defender, state's attorney, and circuit clerk.

After purchasing the property and facility last November, Depke mustered the necessary officials from various governmental bodies to embrace the project. He also urged Lake County state legislators to demand nearly $1 million from Springfield to help staff the facility.

Said Judge Margaret Mullen: "It is only fitting to name this facility after Bob Depke. He pulled together all the forces to

Sends opinion on project

WADSWORTH—The village board of Wadsworth has approved a letter from President Don Craft to be sent to the Illinois Department of Natural Resources in response to a proposed U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (ACOE) study to alleviate downstream flooding along the DesPlaines River. The letter sent to director of the Office of Water Resources (OWR) Donald Vonnahme states reasons the village is opposed to the ACOE project. The OWR is the agency currently putting together an alternate plan titled the Locally Preferred Plan (LPP).

Highlights of the villages letter include allusions to inadequate planning by the ACOE which didn't involve Wisconsin in their plan. Other items not addressed in the study which concerned the village included lack of planning for the Newport Drainage Ditch and Mill Creek.

In closing Craft wrote "...We object to Newport Township being used as a water retention site for greater Lake County...."

Although Old Mill Creek isn't identified as a storage site in the ACOE plan John LaMotte, Old Mill creek's planner said the state DNR is still considering options for the area. He and other village officials met last week to discuss the plan.

Old Mill Creek President Paul Koppen said LaMotte will correlate the information and put together a proposal for flood control to be submitted to the state.

All comments must be submitted to the OWR by Jan. 1 for development of the LPP.—ELIZABETH EAKEN

Mother charged with abuse

ROUND LAKE BEACH—A mother, reportedly on drugs, was arrested and charged with sexually abusing her young son. Police found the woman and her home in disarray when they arrived at the 1000 block of Pleasant Drive Nov. 23.

According to police reports, the 28-year-old female was excited and distraught, circling the bedroom of the home and talking about a nuclear holocaust. Two children, ages three and five, were naked in the room with her.

The woman's husband told police he had observed his wife abuse one of their children in the bedroom through an opening in the door where the doorknob was supposed to be. Music was also blaring, he said.

However, the man said he could not open the door, because the woman had it wedged shut. Police found a carrot under the door.

Once the door was opened, police asked the woman if she was taking any type of drugs. The woman reportedly replied she was, and pointed to a child's toy refrigerator which was located in a closet. Inside was a bottle of multi-colored pills. She told officers they were caffeine pills, and she got them through a mail-order catalog.

After questioning, the 5-year-old boy allegedly said he was scared and hungry in the room. Then he told police his mother touched him on several areas of his body.

Police found some sketches in the home, most depicting a nuclear holocaust showing billions of dead people. Her husband's name was also noted on one of them. Some pictures were showed drawings of red blood.

The woman was arrested and charged with criminal sexual assault. Authorities are working with the Department of Children and Family Services.—by TINA LYNN SWIECH

More charges possible

WAUKEGAN—Additional charges are possible against former Warren Township Highway Commissioner Frank Thomas and other former township employees could be forthcoming as the Lake County State's Attorney's office investigation continues into mishandling of township funds.

The defendants did surrender to Lake County Sheriff's Department after being indicted on 20 counts involving mishandling of public funds.

The defendants were released on signature bond after they surrendered to Lake County Circuit Court Judge James Booras. The case was expected to come before Judge Barbara Gillian-Johnson on Dec. 5 for arraignment.

Thomas, highway department employees John

Thomas and Cayce Siegel, assessor's office employee Bette Siegel and construction firm owner Robert "Brad" Petersen were charged in the Lake County Grand Jury Indictment Wednesday. It capped off an investigation after Frank Thomas and the Siegels resigned their township positions in July.

"After Thomas resigned, we were able to obtain documents which indicated significant criminal wrong-doing. If there are additional charges, those would be added to the defendants, not to others," Waller said.

Waller said Cayce Siegel continued to be paid for work not being done," Waller said.—by STEVE PETERSON

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

Senior center may be in YMCA

LAKE ZURICH—Ela Township officials have had plans of building a new senior center on the drawing board for many years. The one stumbling block that stands in their way is finding a suitable location.

Officials believe they may have found an answer to their dilemma, and have called a special meeting to inform citizens of their plans.

Instead of building a stand alone building, the township board of trustees is interested in combining the senior center with the proposed Ela YMCA.

This would give the township a site, save it around $500,000, and offer citizens more programs, activities and services than a stand alone facility could, said Robert L. Grever, township supervisor.

The special meeting will be held on Sunday, Dec. 8 at 4 p.m. in the Harry L. Knigge Center, 99 N. Main St. The Knigge center serves as the senior center. It was built as the township garage 100 years ago, and was converted into its present use in 1980.

Residents will be asked to vote on the concept, although the township board could make its decision without their approval.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Village wants out of suit

ANTIOCH—Antioch trustees are seeking a motion to dismiss them from a lawsuit seeking an injunction of train whistle blowing in the village. A class-action suit, filed in Lake County Circuit Court by seven residents, a month ago, is asking the court to ban train whistles because the plaintiffs claim the horns violate the village's nuisance ordinance. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug said legally, the village has no authority over the railroads and can't enforce anything related to train whistles. The plaintiffs point to the Antioch intersections as being "excused" from whistle blowing by the state. However, the village definition of excused is not requiring the whistles, while the plaintiffs feel that is sufficient to stop the blowing from Wisconsin Central and Metra trains who also were named in the suit.—By ALEC JUNG

Village guts clerk pay

VERNON HILLS—In a surprise move, the Vernon Hills board essentially eliminated the village clerk position upon the resignation of Kathy Ryg, who was appointed to deputy recorder of deeds. Ryg was credited with revamping the village clerk post when she was elected in 1989.

When she alerted the board of her decision to accept the deputy recorder of deeds position in Waukegan, the board immediately scaled down her village clerk position from a full-time job with a base salary of $27,265 to a part-time position with a $2,500 salary. The new clerk will be largely responsible for taking the board minutes and attesting to documents.

Village President Roger Byrne explained that the board was forced to take swift action in order to abide by state statute which requires a change of salary 180 days before the next election. The next election is slated for April, 1997. "Anybody coming into the job will be relatively inexperienced, I think it would difficult to get like kind and quality of Kathy Ryg," Byrne said. Ryg assumes her duties as deputy recorder of deeds next week.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Flood of praise for agreement

LIBERTYVILLE—A cooperative project between Lake County, the State of Illinois, the Village of Libertyville, The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and several other agencies is expected to bring the end in sight for flooding problems that have plagued the area of North Libertyville Estates. The construction of a levee, a floodwall and a drainage ditch should keep the homes dry after 40 years of repeated flooding.

The inspiration for the project got underway about 10 years ago. Before the levee is constructed, septic and sanitation systems will undergo renovations and modernization.—by SUZIE REED

Lending Library to relocate

WAUCONDA—The YWCA of Lake and McHenry Counties will relocate its Child Care Toy and Equipment Lending Library from Crystal Lake to the basement of Wauconda Village Hall next month.

The library has toys and equipment for indoor and outdoor use from infants to age 5, and is used by licensed and licensed exempt child care providers in both counties, said Carol Eglsaer, director of child care resource and referral for the YWCA.

The YWCA needed to relocate its center from Crystal Lake because its lease ends Dec. 1. In looking for a new site, the Y chose Wauconda as its premier location.

Mayor James Eschenbach said the village will receive a source of revenue for renting mostly unused space.

The Wauconda location will serve providers in McHenry County and in the western portion of Lake County, with the YWCA's main location in Waukegan serving the rest of Lake County.

Items are available to members only. For more information, contact Denise, the parent services coordinator, at the YWCA in Waukegan, at 662-4247.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Phony RX's leads to arrests

FOX LAKE—Police in Fox Lake have made several arrests for phony prescriptions lately, something that appears to happen now and again.

"It seems like every couple of years, there's a whole rash of them," explained Lt. Edward Gerretsen.

This month, Fox Lake police arrested four individuals for attempting to purchase drugs with fake prescriptions or other means, he said.

If it weren't for on-the-ball pharmacists, officials may never have known about the crimes, Gerretsen explained.

"There's good communication between the pharmacists and our department," the lieutenant stated.

In Fox Lake there are two drug stores currently, Fojtik Pharmacy and Walgreens.—by TINA LYNN SWIECH

Senior housing proposed

LAKE VILLA—Plan commissioners have recommended a zoning change to allow a senior housing complex. The commission will allow Single-Family Residential-4 zoning, which calls for townhouses and apartments. There would be 218 townhouses and 132 apartments on 64 acres of an 88 acre parcel. The site is located about mile south of Petite Lake Road and east of Route 83. The commission is currently considering the preliminary plat. The land use plan includes saving the historic Lehmann Mansion. The mansion would have a pool, library, fitness center, dining area and shops.—BY ALEC JUNG

Rezoning refused

MUNDELEIN—Although the plan commission was persuaded to approve a request to rezone a 2-acre parcel on Diamond Lake Road., the village board did not follow suit. The property is currently zoned C-2 (commercial), and developer Carl Wasserman was seeking to build a condominium development similar to his project at Diamond Pointe.

It took a great deal of prompting from Mayor Marilyn Sindles to get a motion on the commission's recommendation one way or the other, however.

"Will somebody make a motion to accept... reject..." the mayor begged. Trustee Angela Trillhaase finally took the lead, seconded by Jim Nutschig. The other three board members present quickly fell in as the proposal fell short.—by SUZIE REED

See tenure law as power pawn

There's a toe under the tent of the state's hallowed teacher tenure law, regarded by many knowledgeable observers as the single greatest impediment to Illinois educational funding reform. Friends and foes alike are confounded by the fact that the toe belongs to incoming House Speaker Michael Madigan.

The powerful Chicago Democrat has sent signals that he is ready to deal on a massive overhaul of school funding to eliminate the inequities existing between school districts. Lake County offers as good an example of the problem that exists. Lake Forest and Stevenson High School have per pupil expenditures double districts like Round Lake and Wauconda.

Everyone is paying sky-high real estate taxes, residents of high income districts to maintain quality education and homeowners in lower income districts just to maintain some semblance of parity. Everyone agrees that the Illinois public school support system relying so heavily on real estate taxes is for the birds.

Madigan's remarks about making teachers more accountable coupled with comments about making it easier to remove non-performing teachers from the classroom have been interpreted as using the tenure law, so valuable to teachers' unions maintaining a grip on the monopoly of public education, as a gigantic bargaining chip.

Presiding over a razor-thin majority in the House, Madigan undoubtedly realizes that he needs something as drastic as watering down tenure to pave the way for Republican support for increased income or sales taxes—or a combination of the two—that can be combined with property-tax relief to provide the underpinning for reform. By adopting a bipartisan approach for educational funding reform, both Democrats and Republicans can go into the important 1998 gubernatorial election without carrying the stigma of being tax raisers.

Republicans with their majority in both sides of the General Assembly started the job of funding reform this past session by breaking out Chicago's problems from the rest of the state.

It's mind-boggling to think that a Democratic Speaker might complete the job. But then Democrats have gotten pretty skillful of late at coopting Republican ideas to stay in power. Teachers' unions getting caught in a power play for the Governor's Mansion would be one of the stranger things happening in Illinois politics.

University level study expanding

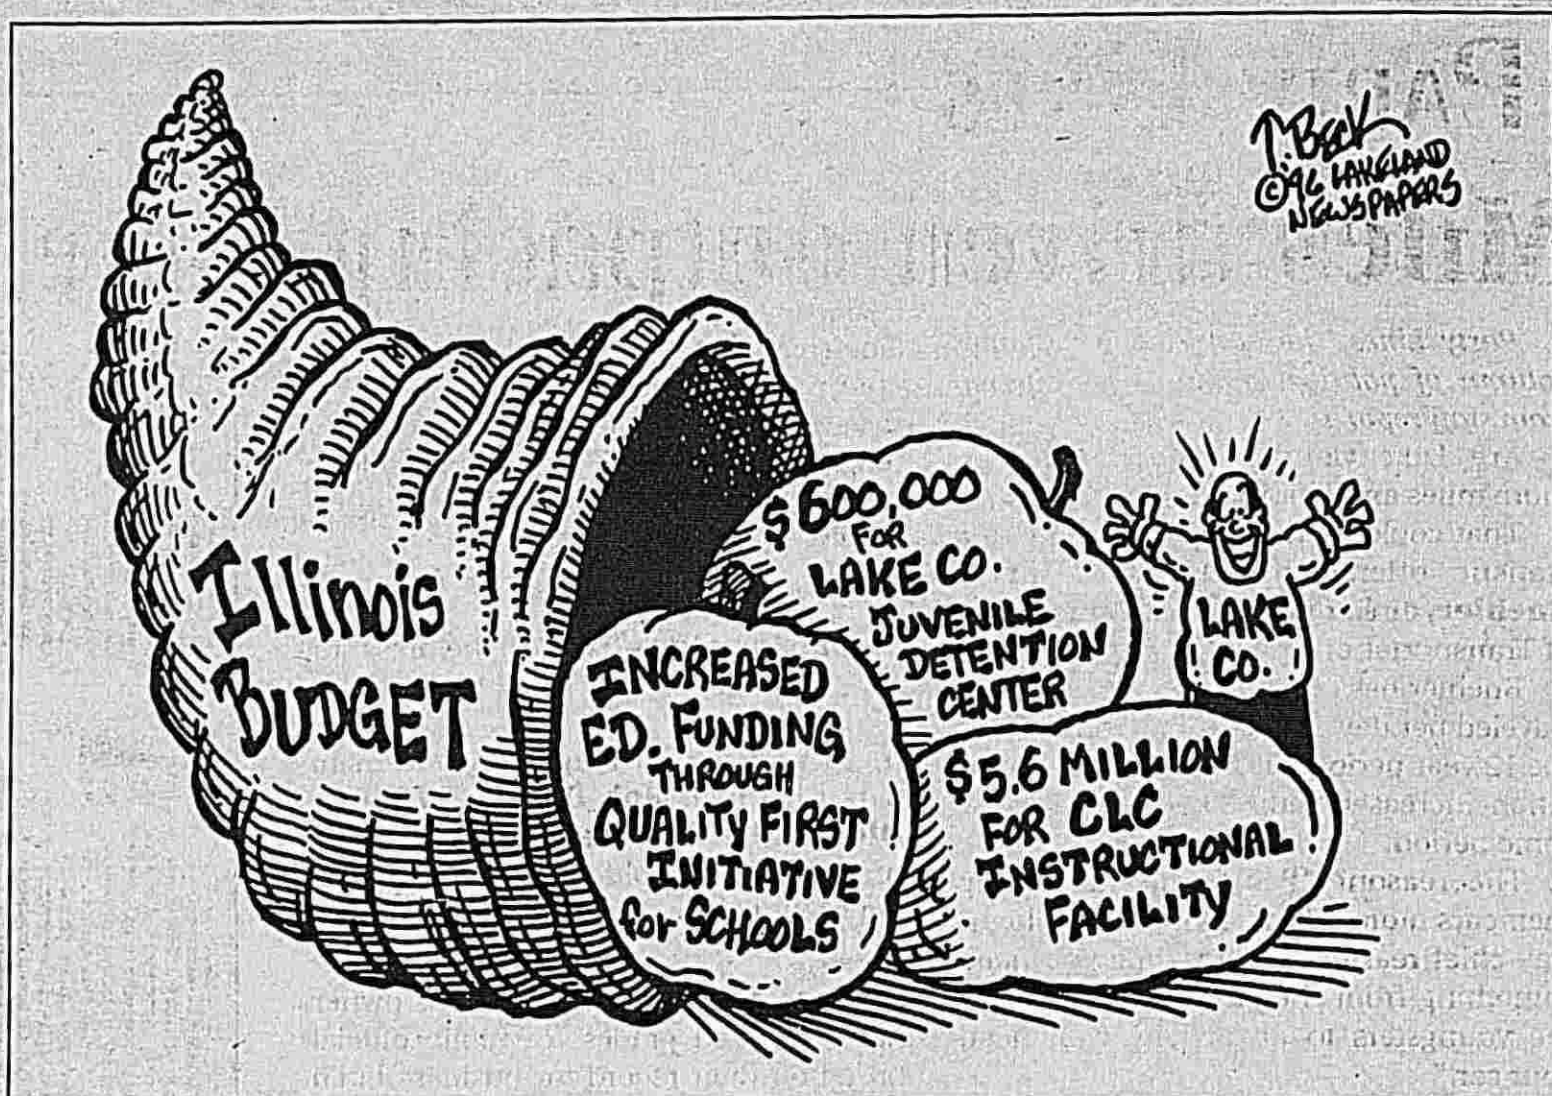

Dr. Gretchen Naff, president of the College of Lake County, said it best in explaining what's going on with proposals to establish a multi-university center for Lake County.

"It is an attempt to provide a coordinated effort to offer junior, senior and graduate level programs through the multi-university center. There is a need for more course offerings at this level at state, public tuition rates. CLC supports any opportunity for increased course offerings on this level."

Five state institutions have proposals under study by Dr. Charles Evans of the University of Illinois made possible by a grant from the State Board of Higher Education. Plans for degree and completion programs have been submitted by Northeastern Illinois, Southern Illinois, the U of I, Governors State and Northern Illinois.

The multi-university center, basically a coordinated program rather than a campus, will fill a void that now exists locally for engineering and high tech studies. Multi-U is not intended to compete with current baccalaureate level and graduate level courses offered by existing four-year colleges in the county, satellite and completion programs available now.

What Multi-U means is that opportunities for a stay-at-home college education are getting better all the time. Impact of the new program expected to go operational in January will be felt most by working adults and students who can't afford to go away for their junior and senior years.

—Viewpoint— New strategy tried to curb development

BILL SCHROEDER

Despite some courtroom twists and turns, legal action is going forward to overhaul Woodland Meadows, a townhome project considered by opponents to threaten pristine wetlands adjoining Almond Rd. in Warren Township, just off Rte. 120, besides posing a flooding threat.

Leaders of two conservation groups leading the fight to derail the project are philosophical about an early defeat. Now the fight is being carried on by five property owners who will be impacted by the project, "right where it should be," exclaimed Susan Zingle of the Lake County Conservation Alliance and Betsey Dietel of the Liberty Prairie Conservancy.

Both groups were ruled by Judge Emilio Santi not to have standing since the project affects 364 homeowners in Woodland Meadows. "We learned a lot," stated the two conservationists who see the case as a landmark in public efforts to stem unbridled development in Lake County.

While they were dismayed that townhome construction was cutting through community parklands and might result in flooding, homeowners opted out of legal action because of costs involved. Opponents claim the project being advanced by a Lake County businessman and Republican benefactor violates county codes and wetlands protection procedures.

The conservationists see litigation instituted by property owners as illustrative of citizen mistrust of their own government. "For years," they noted, "county officials have argued that they can't get tough with developers for fear of lawsuits. Now they face the likelihood of dealing with citizen legal action if they don't uphold county ordinances."

Zingle and Dietel clearly are pleased with the new turn of events. They say a lot is at stake with the outcome of the wetlands protection suit, not to mention long range plans of the county and influential landowners to open up Almond Rd. as a major mid-county transportation corridor.

HONORS—Of all the recognition bestowed on Coroner Barbara Richardson, none will be more glittering than the honor to be bestowed by the Women's Board of Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse.

Richardson will be saluted Saturday, Dec. 7, at the Chicago Botanic Garden, Glencoe, which will be decorated festively for both the occasion and the season. Proceeds from the black tie event will go to further NICASA's service to area residents of all ages, income levels and ethnic backgrounds troubled by alcohol or substance abuse.

TOYS PARTY—Ron Weeks, retiring president of the Lake County Navy League, and his wife, Valerie, have a nifty way of celebrating the holidays. They hold open house at their home in Hawthorn Woods and invite friends to bring a toy for the annual Toys for Tots drive. Guests enjoy a sociable gathering for the afternoon and deserving kids enjoy the toys all year long.

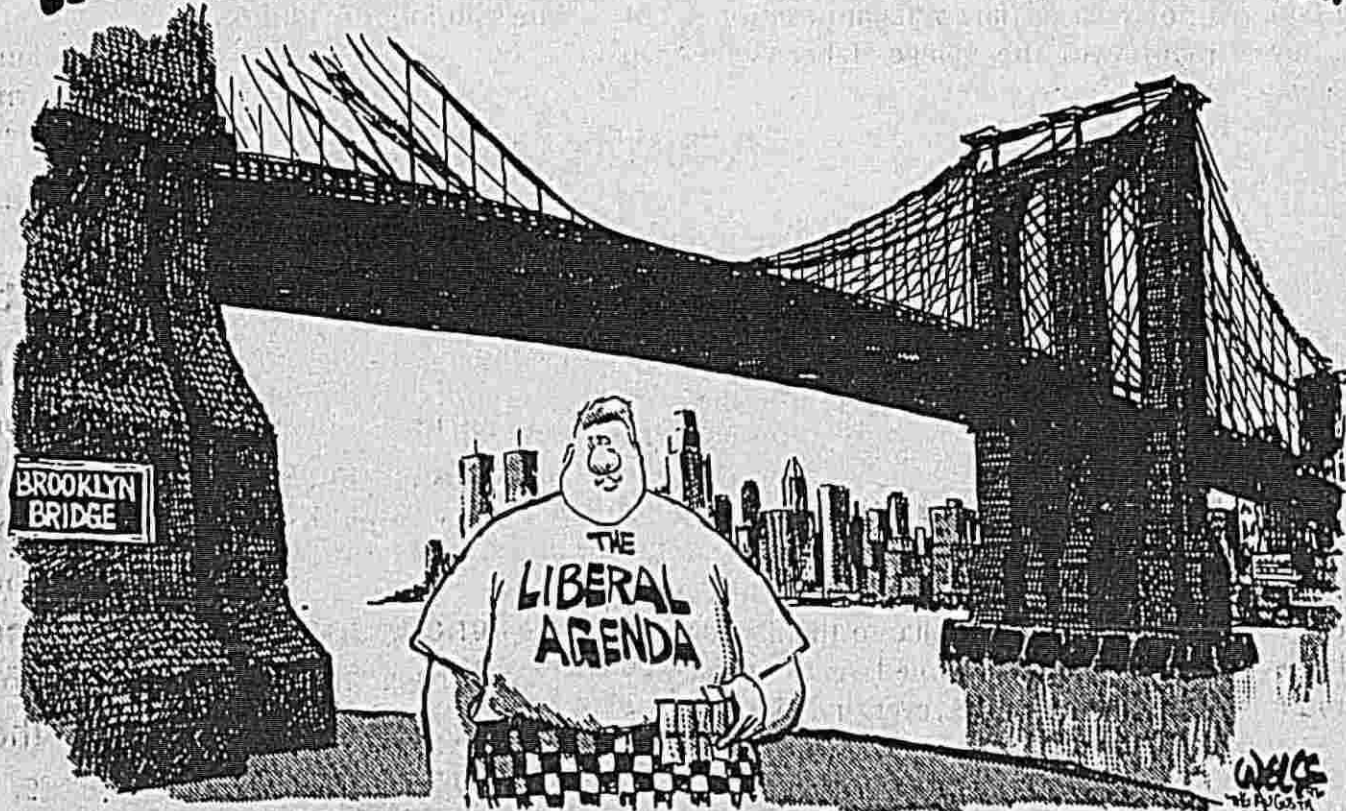

IN POLITICS—Curt Gentry, sports major dromo at College of Lake County who used to bang heads in the National Football League as a Chicago Bear, is getting into local politics.

Gentry, a resident of Round Lake Beach, is set to run for village trustee as a member of a slate being put together by former Mayor Carl Schimpf. Gentry obviously enjoys rough and tumble competition.

PAY BACK TIME—Long Grove residents who defeated a home rule proposal by a two to one margin in the fall election are itching to take on incumbents who supported the unsuccessful proposition in the April village election. That means Mayor Lenore Simmons, who supported home rule, will have some answering to do.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Erika and John have their Christmas lists pretty well in hand. Topping Erika's list is a baby sister. "I'd like a baby sister-brother," John chimes in. Well, grandma and grandpa can't do much about that. And, happy shopping to you.

Miles driven outpacing Lake population growth

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspaper column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

Are Lake County residents driving more miles and enjoying it less?

That could be the case, according to a statistic offered by Martin "Marty" Buehler, director of the Lake County Div. of Transportation.

Buehler has documentation that miles traveled per day increased 200 percent for the 12 year period 1983 to 1995, yet population increased only 20 percent for the same period.

The reason? "People just are using their cars more. Think about it," the highway chief reasons, "Every time you need something from the store or have to get the youngsters to an activity, you need your car."

IDOT tabulators found 1.2 million miles traveled daily in 1983. Daily travel zoomed to 2.6 million in the county by 1995.

Where is this kind of pressure on the local highway system going to lead? New highway construction, obviously, will be necessary. "Eventually, a county gasoline tax," states Buehler. The director sees the long-talked about four cent county gasoline tax becoming reality "when things get so bad."

Lots of talk—New Sheriff Gary Del Re is making it his business to accept as many public speaking requests as possible. Del Re won plaudits for a speech before the South Central Lake County Chamber of Commerce at Lincolnshire. The sheriff says he enjoys meeting citizens face to face. Public speaking also sets the stage for the 1998 election when he'll be on the ballot.

Going 'county'—Vernon Hills' loss will be Lake County's gain is the way friends and long-time backers of Kathy Ryg are looking at her switch from the clerk's post in Vernon Hills to becoming deputy recorder of deeds. Ryg's new job, starting Monday, Dec. 2, elevates her political profile, a fact that hasn't gone unnoticed by Democratic leaders who smell future success. Is there a rematch brewing between Ryg and County Clerk Willard Helander?

Needing a shave—Former Lake County Forest Preserve Chairman Collin McRae of Mundelein was ribbed by Chairman Bob Depke during his last county board meeting for his new look of facial hair. "Can't afford a razor since you left the board, Colin?" he quipped, adding it was great to see the old friend in attendance.

Parting gifts—With all the press surrounding the adoption of a new Lake County logo this year, county staffers had the perfect gift for outgoing board members Chairman Bob Depke, Ed Fojtik, Dick Raftis and Mark Beaubien, were presented with folded flags bearing the new county logo.

Pass, fail—Women business owners have awarded grades to public officials based on their record for business-building programs. Illinois House Majority Leader Robert Churchill and State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karls received an "A" for his support of the creation of the Illinois Women's Business Ownership Council. Congressman Phil Crane received an "F" for his co-sponsorship of Rep. Charles Canady's anti-affirmative action bill.

Consider foster parenting

Editor:
Our nation is preparing for another holiday season. We will sit down to share a meal with family and friends, and we will give thanks for the many blessings we have received in our lives. Christmas, Hanukkah and Kwanza will follow Thanksgiving; and we will prepare to celebrate the season of faith, hope and charity in both our homes and in our communities. As we approach this special time of year, please give some thought to the idea of becoming a foster parent.

In recent years, the number of children entering the foster care system has increased in dramatic fashion. Unfortunately, the number of available foster homes has not increased at the same rate. A shortage of placement resources means that sibling groups must be separated, children must be placed far from their original communities, and institutionalization becomes necessary when a far less restrictive home setting would adequately meet a child's needs. A child's placement outside his or her home is almost always a traumatic experience, and current shortages add to this trauma as social workers are unable to match a child's needs to a specific foster family.

Children have a special ability to grasp the sheer joy and delight inherent in the holiday season. Help foster the hope and the security that will allow these children to grow and to thrive. One day these children will become adults, and the contributions they make will be dependent on the kind of care and attention they received from us in the formative years. Please consider opening your heart and your home to our community's most vulnerable children.

For more information on becoming a foster parent, contact the Foster Hope Network of Lake County at 446-4364.

New underpass 'taxless'

Editor:

All Grayslake residents interested in exercise and the outdoors should be delighted with the news that a public underpass under Rte. 45 will be opened this spring. It will link Grayslake with the 2,500-acre Liberty Prairie Reserve, the Des Plaines River Valley and Trail, and the new Lake County Forest Preserve at Independence Grove.

Best of all, Grayslake residents will pay no tax dollars for the underpass. This is because Grayslake officials worked out an agreement with Prairie Crossing to have Prairie Crossing pay for much of the underpass as part of its annexation agreement with the village. Libertyville Twp. will pay the remainder.

This underpass will be a real benefit to walkers, joggers, bikers, cross-country skiers, nature lovers, as well as horseback riders—to say nothing of families worrying about their children crossing our dangerous local highways.

Every vote counts

Editor:

On behalf of the Vernon Township Democrats, I would like to thank everyone who came out and voted. As we again witnessed in many races, every individual vote is important and does make a difference. On Nov. 5, you made your voices heard.

We encourage everyone to continue to speak out. Only with the active involvement of the citizens of our communities can open and honest debate occur and the problems facing our communities get resolved. Alongside our neighbors, we look forward to working with our local elected officials toward ensuring that the issues facing our communities are addressed and appropriate solutions are found.

Against vouchers

I know for a fact that vouchers will not get everyone in private schools and many will be rejected. I have a family member who goes to a Catholic high school. Over 600 tried to get in, but only 200 were accepted. These were kids who scored highest in a test. They might even be dropped if they don't keep good grades. Their parents are willing to pay extra to put their children in this school, because they want something special. Private schools are selective privileges you should expect to pay for yourself and not expect public funds for it. If you want extra, pay for it yourself!

Well deserved

The Republican party of Lake County got just what they deserved in the recent election. A sound and resounding defeat! County Chairman Bob Depke has finally thrown in the rag and will hang his head in shame for his wasting of county money for a $100,000 logo for the county. The county board has been generally unresponsive.

Do research first

I also was bothered by the recent articles printed in the Wauconda Leader's Healthwatch section on Attention Deficit Disorder. As a parent of a child with ADD, the content of the articles was not only offensive to me, it was extremely erroneous and biased. I consider my child's doctor, who holds degrees in both psychology and neurology, to be an expert in the field and his views are the complete opposite to those expressed in the articles. It's my hope that the Wauconda Leader will more thoroughly investigate information and its origin before printing it.

You're the problem

This is in response to "Congestion found me." I was born and grew up in Lake County for 55 years, 11 years longer than you. You are the one congesting my space. You should have stayed in the city. Lake County belongs to true country people and their children, not to snotty city escapees.

Shovel walks

Mystic Cove has the right idea about not wanting sidewalks. In Antioch Manor North, nobody bothers to shovel those sidewalks and the children are walking to the bus stop on the roadside or in the middle of the road.

What about engines?

This is regarding the train whistles. They are loud, but if you really think about it, the train's engines are louder than the whistles. Are we going to shut the engines off, also?

Crybabies

Thanks, crybabies. You cried about the Democrats, you cried about the Republicans, you cried about the deficit, economy, crime and gangs. We just had an election and it was the lowest voter turnout in the state's history. Either you didn't register, had to work, or felt your vote didn't matter. Just one stupid excuse after another. In a few short years, the people of the United States will enter the year 2000, a new millennium. If we are to continue in a forward motion, we should vote and put away the excuses. Or perhaps it would be alright with you if we lost our right to vote!

Not fair

I'm calling in reference to the Grayslake Colts football league, pee wee division. My son was a player and I thought it was unfair that the Sunday team got bigger trophies than the Saturday team. Both worked hard and I didn't think it was fair to display to 9-year-olds. I think next year everyone should have identical trophies and the focus should be on playing as a team instead of winning as the only motivation.

Print info?

Who is going to check each name on the sex offender list to see that it belongs there? My name is on that list and it does not belong there. If someone published that list with my name on it, it will cost them dearly.

No salt

I drove down Sunset Ridge Drive in Lake Zurich and couldn't believe they had salted the road. There hasn't been any ice on the road. We used too much salt last year and it destroyed plants in front of homes and the parkways. I think it's a little excessive and a waste of tax dollars.

Kudos

I'd like to give kudos to Lakeland Newspapers for publishing in the police beat a sex offender who failed to register. Now, let's get on the ball and publish all the registered sex offenders in the area to protect our children and our future. If other readers are interested in obtaining a list, let me know through Lipservice and I'll open up a P.O. Box to send you that information.

Glad for outcome

I'm so glad the president got re-elected. Despite all the Republicans' lies and mudslinging, the truth won out. Bob Dole has no character anyway.

Report noise

If airplanes wake you up at night, or if you have low-flying planes, report them to the O'Hare Noise Abatement Line, 1-312-686-2377 and your local representatives, the trustees of the village. The more planes that fly over here, the more it depreciates your property.

Stay home, Jesse

I just watched the news about what's going on in St. Petersburg, Florida. It's a miracle that Jesse Jackson isn't down there screaming his head off. Why doesn't he try to calm these people down instead of causing more trouble for everyone else at companies, etc. It's about time he stopped throwing mud at white people and, I am not a racist, but I'm sick and tired of listening to this.

Pathetic

I think it's pathetic that Channel 7 in Chicago was the only major television station that chose not to do coverage of the Cardinal's death. They chose to air soap operas instead. I think management at Channel 7 should wake up and smell the coffee. I'm thankful the other stations took the time to do the coverage as a tribute to the Cardinal. He'll be missed greatly.

No swimming allowed

This is directed to the park district of Gurnee. This has been the second session we've tried to enroll our son for swimming lessons at Warren Township High School. He was in a session in spring and all of a sudden now there's not enough teachers and the classes are filled. There must be something done with this. It's terrible that you live in a community where you can't get your son swimming lessons.

Teach kids right

I'd like to address the issue of parents bringing their children to stores. If your children misbehave and strike other adults, the correct response is to teach the child to apologize to the adult, not to blame the adult for being there. If you have children, you should be responsible enough to teach them manners.

Look into it

If the Lake County Board really was concerned about the health and safety of pets and their owners, they would enforce the rules we already have and introduce new rules about spaying and neutering. I don't see how limiting somebody's animals can promote any health and safety. This deserves some looking into.

Dissolve village

I lived in Fox Lake for a long time and I read in Lipservice where someone called in and said they should dissolve the village status of Fox Lake. He's right. Past and present administrations haven't done anything for the residents of Fox Lake. The best thing is to dissolve the village status, turn it over to the county and get things going where they ought to be instead of people taking care of themselves.

Check dealers

I'd like to say attention, Lake County State's Attorney. It's time you get ahold of the Secretary of State and the Illinois Attorney General and start checking out car dealers in Lake County. They seem to forget we have a lemon law in this state. They have issued warranties that are worthless. Other dealers don't honor them and bill people. I would start checking out these dealers. I think you're in for a surprise.

Pay our bill

To "Think first," who wants people to think before using their fireplaces. I'd like to tell them that when they're ready to start paying our heating bills, we'll be happy to stop burning our fireplace. Until then, we'll be saving money.

No change here

On my morning walk through our village, I discovered one home with a fence installed opposite of everyone else's. The framing side out, facing a next door neighbor. A call to the village and a few local installers assured me that the fence was not in conformance. Until it was discovered the property was owned by village officer. Now no one wants to make a statement. Some things in this town will never change!

Elections near

This is to the people of Round Lake Heights who are worrying about the bar. Don't worry about it. Elections are coming up and you can elect a new mayor who can turn down the liquor license, get rid of the bums that say yes to him, find out what the village owes, and if our village clerk would do her job, you might get the minutes.

Be considerate

My complaint, after doing considerable shopping in Round Lake Beach, is that the Jewel store had 16 untagged vehicles in the handicapped spots. Since I have two artificial hips, it's necessary for me to park as close to the door as I can. Sixteen vehicles with no tags...this never happened when Carl was mayor.

Get a life

I want to know what this is...don't burn leaves, don't use your fireplace, don't park your boat in your driveway. America, the free country? You can park your boat wherever you want as far as I'm concerned, burn leaves, burn firewood in your fireplace, etc. These people have nothing better to do. Get a life!

Quit crabbing

Today is the first day I've read Lipservice announcements and would like to say that if people didn't do so much crabbing about boats and the color of your neighbor's house, and if there was more love in this world, we wouldn't need to resolve petty differences in the newspaper. I think it's ridiculous!

Get real

To "Think first," get real! Fireplaces and fires were around long before electricity or natural gas!

Take tags off

I just want to warn the people who have the handicapped tags. They should take those off while they're driving. I see more people driving with those hanging and they should remove them while they're driving. Also, people don't have the courtesy to use their turn signals anymore.

It's obnoxious

I'm calling in regard to a comment in Lipservice titled "Noise saves lives." I'm saying no, noise doesn't save lives. In the case of the Fox River Grove train crash, the whistle was blown and the bus got hit anyway. What they do is lay on the horn obnoxiously. It's not in response to saving lives, it's to be obnoxious. Other safety measures should be taken and not be dependent on a whistle.

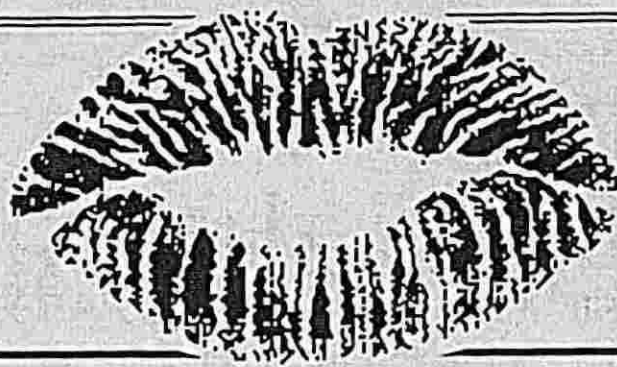

Pay private price

This is for those in favor of vouchers for private school education. No data is necessary to support the statement that religious and other private schools reject two out of three applications. The facts are these: many private schools do not have special education classes, Chapter One, mainstreamed children; in fact, a lot of them don't have a fully certified teaching staff. Public schools have no choice of students. Society has not reaped those rewards yet, in fact, education stats show little, if any, difference in test scores. If you want to choose private education, pay the private price. See LIPSERVICE page C7

Well deserved

The Republican party of Lake County got just what they deserved in the recent election. A sound and resounding defeat! County Chairman Bob Depke has finally thrown in the rag and will hang his head in shame for his wasting of county money for a $100,000 logo for the county. The county board has been generally unresponsive.

Do research first

I also was bothered by the recent articles printed in the Wauconda Leader's Healthwatch section on Attention Deficit Disorder. As a parent of a child with ADD, the content of the articles was not only offensive to me, it was extremely erroneous and biased. I consider my child's doctor, who holds degrees in both psychology and neurology, to be an expert in the field and his views are the complete opposite to those expressed in the articles. It's my hope that the Wauconda Leader will more thoroughly investigate information and its origin before printing it.

You're the problem

This is in response to "Congestion found me." I was born and grew up in Lake County for 55 years, 11 years longer than you. You are the one congesting my space. You should have stayed in the city. Lake County belongs to true country people and their children, not to snotty city escapees.

Shovel walks

Mystic Cove has the right idea about not wanting sidewalks. In Antioch Manor North, nobody bothers to shovel those sidewalks and the children are walking to the bus stop on the road-side or in the middle of the road.

What about engines?

This is regarding the train whistles. They are loud, but if you really think about it, the train's engines are louder than the whistles. Are we going to shut the engines off, also?

Crybabies

Thanks, crybabies. You cried about the Democrats, you cried about the Republicans, you cried about the deficit, economy, crime and gangs. We just had an election and it was the lowest voter turnout in the state's history. Either you didn't register, had to work, or felt your vote didn't matter. Just one stupid excuse after another. In a few short years, the people of the United States will enter the year 2000, a new millennium. If we are to continue in a forward motion, we should vote and put away the excuses. Or perhaps it would be alright with you if we lost our right to vote!

Not fair

I'm calling in reference to the Grayslake Colts football league, pee wee division. My son was a player and I thought it was unfair that the Sunday team got bigger trophies than the Saturday team. Both worked hard and I didn't think it was fair to display to 9-year-olds. I think next year everyone should have identical trophies and the focus should be on playing as a team instead of winning as the only motivation.

Print info?

Who is going to check each name on the sex offender list to see that it belongs there? My name is on that list and it does not belong there. If someone published that list with my name on it, it will cost them dearly.

No salt

I drove down Sunset Ridge Drive in Lake Zurich and couldn't believe they had salted the road. There hasn't been any ice on the road. We used too much salt last year and it destroyed plants in front of homes and the parkways. I think it's a little excessive and a waste of tax dollars.

Kudos

I'd like to give kudos to Lakeland Newspapers for publishing in the police beat a sex offender who failed to register. Now, let's get on the ball and publish all the registered sex offenders in the area to protect our children and our future. If other readers are interested in obtaining a list, let me know through Lipservice and I'll open up a P.O. Box to send you that information.

Glad for outcome

I'm so glad the president got re-elected. Despite all the Republicans' lies and mud-slinging, the truth won out. Bob Dole has no character anyway.

Report noise

If airplanes wake you up at night, or if you have low-flying planes, report them to the O'Hare Noise Abatement Line, 1-312-686-2377 and your local representatives, the trustees of the village. The more planes that fly over here, the more it depreciates your property.

Stay home, Jesse

I just watched the news about what's going on in St. Petersburg, Florida. It's a miracle that Jesse Jackson isn't down there screaming his head off. Why doesn't he try to calm these people down instead of causing more trouble for everyone else at companies, etc. It's about time he stopped throwing mud at white people and, I am not a racist, but I'm sick and tired of listening to this.

Pathetic

I think it's pathetic that Channel 7 in Chicago was the only major television station that chose not to do coverage of the Cardinal's death. They chose to air soap operas instead. I think management at Channel 7 should wake up and smell the coffee. I'm thankful the other stations took the time to do the coverage as a tribute to the Cardinal. He'll be missed greatly.

No swimming allowed

This is directed to the park district of Gurnee. This has been the second session we've tried to enroll our son for swimming lessons at Warren Township High School. He was in a session in spring and all of a sudden now there's not enough teachers and the classes are filled. There must be something done with this. It's terrible that you live in a community where you can't get your son swimming lessons.

Teach kids right

I'd like to address the issue of parents bringing their children to stores. If your children misbehave and strike other adults, the correct response is to teach the child to apologize to the adult, not to blame the adult for being there. If you have children, you should be responsible enough to teach them manners.

Look into it

If the Lake County Board really was concerned about the health and safety of pets and their owners, they would enforce the rules we already have and introduce new rules about spaying and neutering. I don't see how limiting somebody's animals can promote any health and safety. This deserves some looking into.

Dissolve village

I lived in Fox Lake for a long time and I read in Lipservice where someone called in and said they should dissolve the village status of Fox Lake. He's right. Past and present administrations haven't done anything for the residents of Fox Lake. The best thing is to dissolve the village status, turn it over to the county and get things going where they ought to be instead of people taking care of themselves.

Check dealers

I'd like to say attention, Lake County State's Attorney. It's time you get ahold of the Secretary of State and the Illinois Attorney General and start checking out car dealers in Lake County. They seem to forget we have a lemon law in this state. They have issued warranties that are worthless. Other dealers don't honor them and bill people. I would start checking out these dealers. I think you're in for a surprise.

Pay our bill

To "Think first," who wants people to think before using their fireplaces. I'd like to tell them that when they're ready to start paying our heating bills, we'll be happy to stop burning our fireplace. Until then, we'll be saving money.

No change here

On my morning walk through our village, I discovered one home with a fence installed opposite of everyone else's. The framing side out, facing a next door neighbor. A call to the village and a few local installers assured me that the fence was not in conformance. Until it was discovered the property was owned by village officer. Now no one wants to make a statement. Some things in this town will never change!

Elections near

This is to the people of Round Lake Heights who are worrying about the bar. Don't worry about it. Elections are coming up and you can elect a new mayor who can turn down the liquor license, get rid of the bums that say yes to him, find out what the village owes, and if our village clerk would do her job, you might get the minutes.

Be considerate

My complaint, after doing considerable shopping in Round Lake Beach, is that the Jewel store had 16 untagged vehicles in the handicapped spots. Since I have two artificial hips, it's necessary for me to park as close to the door as I can. Sixteen vehicles with no tags...this never happened when Carl was mayor.

Get a life

I want to know what this is...don't burn leaves, don't use your fireplace, don't park your boat in your driveway. America, the free country? You can park your boat wherever you want as far as I'm concerned, burn leaves, burn firewood in your fireplace, etc. These people have nothing better to do. Get a life!

Quit crabbing

Today is the first day I've read Lipservice announcements and would like to say that if people didn't do so much crabbing about boats and the color of your neighbor's house, and if there was more love in this world, we wouldn't need to resolve petty differences in the newspaper. I think it's ridiculous!

Get real

To "Think first," get real! Fireplaces and fires were around long before electricity or natural gas!

Take tags off

I just want to warn the people who have the handicapped tags. They should take those off while they're driving. I see more people driving with those hanging and they should remove them while they're driving. Also, people don't have the courtesy to use their turn signals anymore.

It's obnoxious

I'm calling in regard to a comment in Lipservice titled "Noise saves lives." I'm saying no, noise doesn't save lives. In the case of the Fox River Grove train crash, the whistle was blown and the bus got hit anyway. What they do is lay on the horn obnoxiously. It's not in response to saving lives, it's to be obnoxious. Other safety measures should be taken and not be dependent on a whistle.

Pay private price

This is for those in favor of vouchers for private school education. No data is necessary to support the statement that religious and other private schools reject two out of three applications. The facts are these: many private schools do not have special education classes, Chapter One, mainstreamed children; in fact, a lot of them don't have a fully certified teaching staff. Public schools have no choice of students. Society has not reaped those rewards yet, in fact, education stats show little, if any, difference in test scores. If you want to choose private education, pay the private price. See LIPSERVICE page C7

Too many things to do, places to go in this lifetime

There are many things I'd like to do and places I'd like to go in this lifetime. For example, I'd love to visit Australia and Alaska. I'd like to ride a motorcycle from coast to coast. I'd also like to visit every county of every state in the United States. It may take some time to accomplish all of these travel goals, however, I can now cross off one small item on my list.

A few weeks ago I had the opportunity to visit the Mall of America in Bloomington, Minn. To anyone with roots and interest in retail, this huge retailing mecca looms like Mt. Everest to mountain climbers.

The Mall of America is the largest fully enclosed retail and family entertainment complex in America. There are more than four million square feet under the mall's roof. The concept is to create a strong destination-al draw by combining family entertainment and retail shopping.

Center court at the mall is comprised of Knott's Camp Snoopy. It's the largest indoor theme park in the United States. It covers seven acres and houses 21 rides and attractions.

The shopping area is made up of a large rectangle with a big-name anchor store at each corner. Nordstrom, Macy's, Bloomingdales and Sears provide the retail power at the corners. In addition, there are more than 500 specialty stores and shops on four levels. Though it's big, the layout is good and it's easy to find your way around.

A false front

As I walked around, I was surprised at how full the mall was. Specialty shops and chain stores filled nearly every space. This was pretty impressive.

However, I later learned that this is more illusion than reality. During a break at a workshop I was conducting in Minneapolis, I learned that the mall is not nearly as full as it looks. To create the impression of fullness, management is using a leasing technique known as a "bump back."

A bump back is small store created in a larger space. For example, a 10,000 square foot space might only have the front 25 percent leased. The back wall is just bumped back a quarter of the way into the space creating the illusion of a completely rented space.

In addition to the bump-back technique, the mall has also used some other creative marketing strategies to attract businesses. One year leases at very low rates are common as well. This enables a small chain or individual owner to test the water without big upfront commitment.

Unfortunately, you may be bumped out in the process. If you are a temporary tenant—all one year leases are considered temporary—you may be bumped out of your space for a long-term lease. One of the store owners

Lake County employers sending mixed hiring signals

An unsettled job market is in view for the Lake County area this winter. The projection, for the three-month period ending March 31, reflects local company responses to Manpower's Employment Outlook Survey released, Nov. 25.

Manpower official Charles Bartels, said, "Our latest survey indicates 13 percent of those interviewed will staff up during the winter months, while 13 percent also are prepared to reduce their laborforce. Another 68 percent say present levels will prevail and 6 percent aren't sure. The outlook was slightly better for the same period in 1996.

"At that time, 14 percent said their personnel requirements had increased while 11 percent intended to decrease staff. Three months ago employers expressed more uncertainty, as 21 percent affirmed workforce additions and 25 percent reported cutbacks were in order."

The best job opportunities this winter are foreseen in wholesale/retail trade, finance/insurance/real estate and public administration. Staff cutbacks are projected in durable and non-durable goods manufacturing, and transportation/public utilities. Mixed readings are reported in services.

On a national basis, the traditional first quarter decline is less than seasonally expected as 21 percent of those interviewed plan hiring increases, 11 percent anticipate reductions, 64 percent see no change and 4 percent are not yet certain.

Manpower Inc. conducts the Employment Outlook Survey on a quarterly basis. It is a measurement of employers' intentions to increase or decrease the permanent workforce, and during its 20-year history has been a significant indicator of employment trends. The survey is based on telephone interviews with more than 16,000 public and private employers in 487 U.S. cities. Manpower Inc. is the world's largest temporary help firm, annually providing employment to 1.5 million people through more than 2,200 offices in 41 countries.

Monee mall won't hurt our Mills, developer says

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The Mills Corporation officials are defending plans to build a mall similar but smaller to Gurnee Mills in the south suburbs.

Monee Mall will be located in south suburban Monee off I-57. The mall will be slightly less than the 2 million square foot Gurnee Mills and continues the mills corporations' expansion. Ontario Mills in California was opened earlier this month.

"Everyone asks if this will hurt Gurnee Mills. We think the exact opposite. There are three markets which could support two malls and they are New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. It is the same thing if a fast-food restaurant opened one location with 10 percent of the business but 30 percent knowing about it. We want to get a lock on the Chicago market with a north and south locations.

These malls are 80 miles apart, but there can be some shared marketing with the buses, advertising, tourism and networking," Steve Jacobsen, executive vice president of The Mills Corp. said.

The Monee location off I-57 will not have the major draws such as the Bass Pro outdoor recreation giant and Rainforest Cafe. Some tenants are expected to be at both Gurnee and Monee. Bass Pro is expected to begin construction early in 1997.

The Monee mall is expected to draw customers from the south suburbs and Indiana.

The locations are farther apart than the California malls, which are 45 miles apart, Jacobsen said.

He said the corporation was upfront about its two mall plans with Gurnee officials.

"I have some concerns, but am not worried," Gurnee Village Admin. James Hayner said.

A study is expected soon by The Mills Corporation showing the new mall will not hurt Gurnee Mills.

Five-year old Gurnee Mills is the main attraction for bus traffic in the state. Sales tax revenue is up 5 percent over last year, Hayner said.

"The year 1997 will be our best yet. In the next 30-60 days, we will be announcing more exciting entertainment attractions," Jacobsen said.

With the start of post-Thanksgiving shopping this weekend, it is indeed crunch time for 1996 sales tax revenue.

"The next month will tell the tale," Hayner said.

Busiest calling day of year expected to be Monday after Thanksgiving

Ameritech officials are predicting the Monday after Thanksgiving, Dec. 2, to be the busiest business calling day of the year in the company's five state Great Lakes service region. Customers will generate some 272 million calls this year, compared to last year's 270.5 million calls made on the Monday after Thanksgiving. The calling volume on an average Monday is about 250 million calls.

"We're counting every type of call," explained Gary Fox, director of operations in Ameritech Network Services. "Local calls, long distance calls within the region and outside the region, and calls coming into the area will be calculated. Every call Ameritech connects or switches from our network to the facilities of dozens of other companies will be tallied."

Fox pointed out that the main reason the Monday after Thanksgiving is the busiest calling day is because businesses have the long four-day weekend off.

"Another factor that may impact this year's volume," Fox observed, "is that Monday not only follows a holiday weekend, but it's also the first business day of the month."

The holiday shopping season begins then as well, Fox added. Following Thanksgiving weekend, retailers will be able to gauge sales and place their orders beginning that Monday.

"Nevertheless, as we do every day and year round, we'll be monitoring the network to make sure there are plenty of clear paths for calls to be connected," Fox said. "As one area becomes congested, we'll re-route calls and perform other network management functions to make certain that every call gets the same chance of being completed."

Santa to visit foster kids at Shiloh Baptist Church

The Foster Hope Network announced Shiloh Baptist Church will be the site of its second annual Christmas party for children in foster care in Lake County. The network will host the event on Friday, Dec. 6 from 4 to 6 p.m. Two hundred children are expected to visit with Santa Claus and receive a holiday stocking. Last year's party featured Juvenile Judge David M. Hall as Santa. Judge Hall declined comment on whether he would reprise his role, but stated, "Lake County's foster kids deserve to be able to smile at Christmas. For now, they are not with their moms and dads. But we want them to know they are loved and are important. I am looking forward to this event."

The use of the Shiloh Baptist Church facility was donated by the Rev. Walstone Francis, who is a licensed foster parent. Gifts will be presented to each child, along with a photograph of the youngster with Santa. Punch and cookies will be served. Juvenile Judge Margaret Mullen explained, "Because Hulse Juvenile Court is moving, we could not accommodate the party this year. But this party represents something positive can be associated with juvenile court. The kids, the foster parents and the social workers all enjoy it, not to mention the judges!"

Decorations for the party will be made by Hulse Juvenile Detention Center residents. Corporate sponsors will be sought for the gifts by the Foster Hope Network. The Network is an association of full service child welfare agencies providing foster care to children involved with Lake County Juvenile Court. Persons interested in becoming foster parents should call the Foster Hope Network at 446-4364.

Been There

at the workshop said he'd already been relocated twice this year. A moving experience.

Too early to tell

All things considered, it is too early to tell if this mega mall and entertainment concept will be successful. At this point, I'd probably bet on its ultimate success.

It is a big, fun place to go. There is something fun there for just about everyone. The clincher may be the location. It gets cold in Minnesota. It's probably cold right now. It snows in Minnesota. It could be snowing right now. Winters are long and cabin fever sets in early. The mall is warm, spacious and an all around great diversion.

Others are befitting on the concept, too. Already there's a bigger mall on the drawing board. When it opens I'll tell you about it. I'll go visit it just so I can say, "Been there, done that."

Live satellite broadcast for tax pros on retirement plans

Noah Seidenberg, the Edward Jones investment representative in Grayslake, will host a satellite teleconference for accounting and legal professionals Wednesday, Dec. 4.

The broadcast, "Retirement Planning Issues for Closely Held Business Owners," will cover recent legislation impacting retirement plans.

"The is the last program in our 1996 Broadcast Series for accounting and legal professionals," Seidenberg said. "With the recent tax legislation and upcoming tax season, this topic is very timely."

This program is eligible for four CPE hours for accounting professionals; course approval is pending for attorneys in states with general requirements.

Discussion topics will include: retirement distributions from closely held businesses; use of insurance to cover risks; use of shareholder agreements to provide certainty for contingencies; selecting an appropriate retirement plan; retirement plan distributions; and recent legislation affecting retirement plans.

Guest speakers will include: Jeffrey R. Capwell, attorney, an associate at McGuire, Woods, Battle and Boothe, LLP, in Richmond, Virg.; James B. Findley, CLU, ChFC, chairman of Findley, Davies and Co. in Toledo, Ohio; Jeffrey Jacobs, attorney, president of the Professional Education Network Inc. in Westport, Conn.; and Steven Ostrander, CPA, CPC, CLU, a sole practitioner in Germantown, Md.

The enrollment fee for this intermediate-level taxation program is $60, which includes all course materials and refreshments. To reserve a seat, interested professionals should contact Seidenberg's office at 223-1908.

Several quesitons to ask before borrowing money

You may not be able to have your cake and eat it too but wise use of credit may let you come close.

To avoid creeping credit you should ask yourself several questions before you borrow money.

- How will added loan payments fit into my regular spending pattern?
- Will I have to go without things I need to buy this item?
- What's the difference between the total credit cost and the cash price?

- Will this item outlast the payments?
- Will I want this item as much when I'm making payments as I do now?
- Will this item improve family living, save time, protect health, increase income?
- Is my income certain for the length of time I'll make payments?

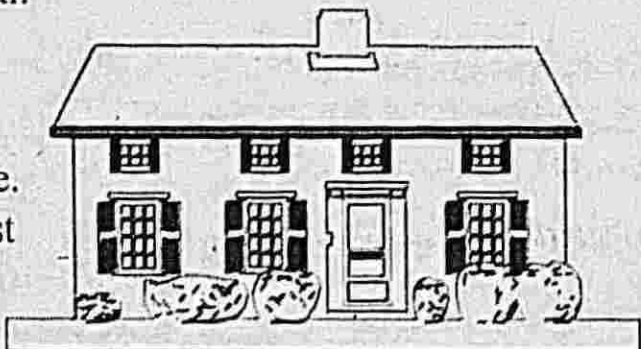

Your answers to these questions may answer the question of when and whether to use credit.

How Much Can Your Home Save You Next Year?

When was the last time you went for a mortgage checkup? Did you check all your financing options? All too often, lenders don't have all the choices available, so they leave a few out. Not ARGO Federal.

You may be able to give yourself a raise in pay by properly financing your home. Is your mortgage at the lowest possible rate? Are you taking advantage of a home equity line of credit or second mortgage to save on interest and, possibly, on taxes? If it has been more than a year since your last checkup, now is the time. For all types of home financing, we're the people to see.

Stop in (we're at the corner of Washington and Cemetery Road) or call us. It's a great time for a checkup!

ASK FOR CATHY

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: My husband and I have been living and working in the city of Chicago, and have always relied on public transportation to get to and from work. I have given notice to my employer of 8 years as we are about to move to the suburbs due to my husband's transfer. While his company has given him an automobile as part of his new perks, it is apparent that I will have to further rely on public transportation to get to and from wherever I am able to find new employment. I have been told that it would be better for me to find something very close to home until the time that I can afford to purchase a car. It has also been said to me that employers sometimes will ask on their applications what the year and make of your vehicle is, and frown down upon use of public transportation by their employees. Is this true? G.S.—Chicago

A: Thousands of people every day rely on the use of public transportation and manage very well. Besides, with the high cost of operating motor vehicles coupled with the costs of parking in the city, and heavy rush hour traffic, I can see why so many do depend on public transportation. In answer to your question regarding asking for year and make of vehicle, many corporations look upon this question for use before and after the fact. For instance, information may be needed for vehicles parked within a parking lot which is secured. Also, if the position is calling for an outside sales position with their own automobile, for instance whereby the potential employee will need to be hauling around samples, it would be safe to assume someone without a car would not operate effectively as someone with a car. Do employers frown down upon the use of public transportation out in the suburbs, not likely! However, if public transportation becomes a reason for tardiness and such...yes! The idea, as I am sure you are more than experienced with, is to leave yourself enough time for the possibility of incident in that area. Be up front in an interview regarding this if it is brought up to you. Tell them that you have relied on this for 8 years and it has never been a problem. Also follow up with the fact that the situation is temporary and that your intentions are to be purchasing an automobile shortly. Make sure they understand that the reasons for not having one were due to the city living and city employment. Offer them to speak with your former employer who should be able to verify your ability to report for work daily in a timely manner. Good luck on your move!
